

NEW LIQUOR RULING ON SEA GOING SHIPS TO SOON BE EFFECTIVE

Foreign and American Vessels Will be Subject to the Prohibition Law After October 14—President Harding Orders Immediate Cessation of Liquor Sales on U. S. Ships

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Foreign and American vessels sailing for the United States after Oct. 14, next, will be subject to the prohibition against the bringing of intoxicating liquors into American territorial waters, it was announced tonight at the treasury department.
Decision to defer in the case of these craft the enforcement of Attorney General Daugherty's ruling with respect to prohibition of the transportation of liquor cargoes or stores was made by President Harding. The executive in a letter to Secretary Mellon said any earlier attempt at enforcement in the absence of due notice and ample regulation would be inconsistent with just dealing and have a tendency to disrupt needlessly the ways of commerce.
"This delay in enforcement does not apply to the sale of intoxicating liquor on vessels sailing under the American flag," the president said.
Immediate cessation of such sales was ordered yesterday by Mr. Harding after the attorney general's ruling had been presented to him.

OLD OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS AT GIANTS DOOR, IS DRAGGED IN

Take Advantage of Breaks While Yanks Sleep at Switch

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Rain drops and brain flops sent the New York Yankees down to another defeat today in their almost hopeless fight with the local National League champions for the baseball championship of the world. The Giants made four runs, barely enough to win because they were bright boys and fast on the muddy base paths, pelted with rain during every minute of the battle. The Yankees got only three runs because they thought and moved slowly or not at all, in the high moments of their attacks.
Such breaks in luck as could be blamed on the sloppy weather favored the Giants, who took quick advantage of them in a sudden fifth inning spurt and produced all of their runs. But the Yankees could have won the game in spite of the adverse fortune had they made use of their legs and heads with as much vigor as they put into swinging their heavy bats.

Tonight the National League pennant winners need only one more victory to renew their 1921 lease upon the title of world's baseball champions. The depressed Yankees find themselves up against a barrier that few think they can surmount. They must win four games in succession to escape another downfall at the hands of the McGraw men.

The Yanks started off with a rush and a furious pounding of the ball in the first inning and gave their underhand pitcher Carl Mays, a two run lead. In the fifth the Giants began a hit and run attack. Helped along by breakish bounds of the muddy ball, this rally sent four runs across the plate.

Aaron Ward, the Yanks' second baseman, got his second home run of the series in the seventh but there was no one on base as there would have been had Bob Meusel used better discretion in running to first a moment before, and the Giants remained in the lead. Once more in the ninth the Yankees were able to hit Hugh McQuillan hard enough to warrant a score but they went down without one because of faulty base running.

Fate struck out a mean, wet and slippery finger at Carl Mays in the fifth inning and marked him for defeat.

Luck for Giants
Had the day been dry and the infield soil trustworthy the underhand twirler probably would have shutout the Giants in that inning as he did in all the rest. But luck turned against him from the very start of the inning. Snyder the first Giant at bat sent a roller to shortstop. Touching the mud ball took a queer bound and Scott could only knock it down, giving Snyder an infield hit. McQuillan then smacked a two bagger into left field. Bancroft hit a short bound toward Ward who raced in so that it seemed that Snyder surely would be thrown out at the plate. But this ball, too hopped in an unusual manner and went over Ward's head so that both Snyder and McQuillan reached home.

USUAL MOANING OF THE BAR ON LINERS PUTTING OUT TO SEA

Despite Daugherty's Orders American Ships Still Wet

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—There was the usual moaning of the bar upon liners putting out to sea today despite Attorney General Daugherty's ruling on high seas liquor and the announcement of Chairman Lasker at Washington that all shipping board craft had been ordered to travel dry.
Incoming vessels were first to feel the effects of the attorney general's ruling. On arriving in port each vessel irrespective of the flag she flew was boarded by customs officials who locked and sealed up all bars, liquor stores and even the private supplies of ship's officers and seamen.

Confronted by the possibility of a parched voyage across the Atlantic a score of passengers scheduled for the shipping board craft America, threatened to leave the ship at the last minute. Only when officers of the United American line who manage the vessel assured the thirsty ones that the absence of definite instructions from Washington the bars would be open as usual with the ship able to depart with her full sailing list.

There was proviso which skeptics eyed with misgiving. Orders might come, said the officials in time to be transmitted to the America by wireless in which case the bars might be sealed in mid-ocean.

The majestic Mastodon of the seas likewise sailed with her full complement of liquor. Her $10,000 supply of liquor ready for the expected onslaught beyond the three mile limit.

White Star Line chiefs declined to discuss Mr. Daugherty's ruling except to say it "apparently wouldn't hit the Majestic this time."

The absence of custom officers also lent spirit to the departure of the Guilio Caesar which sailed for Genoa and Naples with well stocked lockers. She not only carried a supply for passengers but several hundred gallons of wine for her Italian crew.

Orders to turn the spigots and seal the casks were received by radio aboard the North German Lloyd ship Hanover while she was still some distance out according to passengers. Not understanding the order, they said, ship officials closed the bars long before the three mile limit was reached.

The general opinion of local steamship men and experts in admiralty law was that Attorney General Daugherty's position was backed by numerous precedents some dating back more than 100 years.

Belief was expressed that by prohibiting all ships from bringing liquor into American ports shipping board craft would be placed upon a more even competitive basis with foreign owned vessels.

PLAN FOR AIDING NEAR EAST REFUGEES TO BE MADE KNOWN

Expect President Harding to Issue Statement Today

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—President Harding, it was said tonight, will issue a statement tomorrow dealing with plans for aiding the thousands of refugees in the Near East. The statement, it was added, will deal with the situation in the light of conclusions reached at conferences at the White House today for coordination of the efforts of the American Red Cross and the Near East Relief in such relief work.

Participating in the conferences were officials of the two organizations and former Postmaster General Hays, it being their purpose to draft a final recommendation to President Harding who was asked recently by the Near East to give his support to a nation-wide appeal for funds.

The situation as outlined was that the Near East Relief had the organization on the ground for aiding the refugees while the Red Cross had the necessary money. It was the idea of Mr. Hays who has been invited by President Harding to head a public committee to obtain subscriptions for the purpose, to bring the two organizations together in the work.

THREE ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH SHOOTING

Rock Island Affray Results in One Dead and Several Arrested

(By The Associated Press)
ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Oct. 7.—Three men were in custody tonight in connection with the slaying of John Looney, 23 year old son of a Rock Island editor, during a clash yesterday between rival gangsters. Another man was held under $4,000 bonds on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and murder warrants have been issued for three others.

Those held without bail as a result of the gun battle fought in front of the Sherman hotel at Rock Island's busiest corner, are Dan Drost, George Buckley and George Holsapple, all said to be former saloon owners. Lawrence Pedigo, proprietor of the Sherman, was held for carrying concealed weapons. The warrants were signed by Edward L. Eagle, assistant state's attorney.

Mr. Eagle said he had been unable to obtain confessions of firing shots from any of the prisoners all of them strongly denying any part of the affair. They will be arranged on October 13.

WORD DEMOCRACY HAS BECOME FFTISH

(By The Associated Press)
HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 7.—"The word Democracy has become a fetish in America and to criticize it is considered not only to be poor form, but to be destined to failure; we are permitted to do the utmost violence to Democracy in our actions as long as we extol it with our words," said Dr. George B. Cutten today in an address incident to exercise induction him as president of College university.

Dr. Cutten said he accepted the ordinary meaning of the word "Democracy" as the rule of the people, of the majority.

"Better still," he continued, "the definition in Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, 'government of the people, by the people, for the people.' It is true we have a government of the people, but never by the people, and only indirectly or unintentionally for the people."

"Manhood suffrage," the new president said, "has been our greatest and most popular failure and now we double it by granting universal suffrage."

All three agreed that there was much suffering and economic distress in Europe but that the American government should make no more loans there.

(By The Associated Press)

Mrs. Provno, the baby in her arms, was standing near the door of their neighborhood store in South Rockford talking to her husband when a strange man opened the screen door of the store and without a word fired. The bullet first passed through Provno's outstretched hand tearing away a finger.

It shattered Mrs. Provno's arm and then imbedded itself in the body of the child. So close was the shot that powder burns were found on all three victims.

GREEK CHRISTIANS CABLE HARDING

(By The Associated Press)
ATHENS, Oct. 7.—Twenty-eight Greek Christian deputies of Thrace in the Greek National assembly have cabled President Harding and the American congress seeking protection for the Greek, Armenian and other Christian populations in eastern Thrace should that area be turned over to the Turks.

The Christians of Thrace says the messages are in a state of consternation over the probable terms of the Mudania armistice whereby eastern Thrace will be restored to Turkey.

"They are under no illusion of the fate awaiting them if this iniquitous decision is carried out," continues the message for no paper guarantees will insure the fulfillment of any Turkish promises, and the Kemalists make no secret of their determination to wipe out the Christian populations under Turkish rule by massacre, exile and deportation."

HOME FOLKS EXTEND UNCLE JOE CANNON CORDIAL WELCOME

Reached Danville Yesterday After Traveling Nearly All of the Way Overland from Washington—Left His Automobile at Indianapolis and Completed Journey by Rail

(By The Associated Press)
DANVILLE, Ill., Oct. 7.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, who retires next March after forty years of service in congress, came home to Danville today, after traveling most of the way over the same road he followed when he came west with his parents and brothers in 1840.

On that trip of eighty-two years ago he rode, a child of four, in his mother's arms on the high swaying seat of a lumbering prairie schooner. Now, more than four score years later, he has fulfilled a long cherished ambition to make the same trip again, following the old National Road from Frederic, Md., to Indianapolis, by automobile. Because of fatigue he was forced to abandon his car at the Hoosier capital and complete the journey by train.

Tonight, rejuvenated by a few hours rest, with one of his famous stogies burning freely and a pocket full of its mates within reach, he shared the honors with United States District Judge Walter C. Lindley at a dinner of the Vermillion county bar association and compared the western trip of 1840 to the automobile journey of 1922.

One of his last acts before congress adjourned was to recommend to the president that Judge Lindley be appointed to the federal bench, and tonight's banquet celebrated the accession of his appointee.

"In 1840 when my father, mother, two brothers and I left Quilford, N. C., they were campaigning for Tippecanoe and Tyler too," the patriarch of congress recalled. "There were ten families in our train when we started westward for Indiana. Most of the journey I sat in my mother's lap, for I was only four years old then."

"I remember a waiting place in Virginia where we stopped to rest our horses. There was a hand playing on the porch of a house there, and we paused longer than usual. As we drove away my mother looked back, with tears in her eyes and said: 'good bye civilization.'"

"I told Senator 'Jim' Watson about that one time," Uncle Joe added with a chuckle, "and when he told it he turned it all around and said it was my father that looked back, and that he said: 'good by God, I'm going to Indiana.'"

"We reached the Wabash near Terre Haute, Ind., and made our home there. It was at Terre Haute that I started studying law and after I got my sheepskin at Cincinnati I came out to Douglas county, Ill., and hung out a shingle labelled 'Law Office.'"

"My first client was a fellow who came in one day and said, 'I want a lease drawn up—can you do it?'"

"I said I could and he went out while I was preparing it. He waited quite a while and he did not come back, so I took the lease and started out to visit all the blacksmith shops in town until I found him. I was to get a dollar for that lease and I figured the money would pay my board."

Recalling his early days in Danville and the friends of his long years here, he said:

"One of these days when I pass in my checks—I'm not afraid of death—I'll be buried out there in the cemetery where a lot of my good friends are."

But a minute later shaking off the strain of seriousness he was chuckling again over his plans for his "second childhood."

"I never expect to follow that overland trail again by automobile," Uncle Joe laughed, but as I rode over it, it seemed to me that in my coming second childhood I would enjoy it again."

A THOUGHT

What time I am afraid, I will trust in Thee.—Psalm 56:3.

FEAR is more painful to cowardice than death to true courage.—Sir Philip Sidney.

Iowa Republicans, judging from dispatches, seem to be doing their best to elect the democratic ticket.

After yesterday's world's series game it might be well to change the New American League club's nickname from the Yankees to the Albies.

It must have seemed strange to New York citizens to hear Governor Allen and William Allen praise each other. Only a few weeks ago the governor was threatening to jail William Allen for lese majeste or some similar offense.

DEATH OF DR. HAYDEN

The death yesterday of Dr. Frederick S. Hayden, who expired suddenly while watching the football game between Illinois College and Carthage, was a great shock to the entire community.

Dr. Hayden had been a resident of Jacksonville for many years.

During these years he has always been actively engaged and his circle of friends was a wide one, embracing people in all walks of life. Associated with Illinois college for over twenty years, he became intimately acquainted with hundreds of young men and women who attended that institution.

He always took an active interest in young people and his influence on their lives when students was undoubtedly of great value after they left the school. During the world war he secured the name of every student of the college in the service.

He kept in close touch with them and wrote letters to them which were an inspiration and comfort in their trials and hardships in camp and on the field of battle.

Speaking of Dr. Hayden's death last night a graduate of Illinois, and one who has been intimately associated with him thru many years, said that he believed that Dr. Hayden's death came as he would have wished it—among the ones he loved so well and who honored and revered him.

Dr. Hayden is dead, but the influence of his life will live on, a benediction to those who were privileged to know him and call him friend.

MAN'S RIVAL

A shipment of iron telegraph poles goes to South Africa. Wood is abundant and cheaper, but it would be quickly destroyed by the powerful jaws of the terrible white ants.

In Ceylon black army ants march on the warpath. Scientist counts them, finds 300,000 soldiers in one army, marching in companies, about 20 abreast, with officers running up and down the line and keeping order.

Let a horse or man break a leg and fall in the path of the army ant, and in a few hours only a skeleton is left.

These and other marvels of the insect world are described in Professor J. Arthur Thomson's fascinating "Outline of Science," a four-volume education without a headache.

Thomson tells about the burying beetles. When a corpse is to be buried, one of these insect grave-diggers rounds up a squad of helpers instead of tackling the job alone.

Among locusts the wingless young form a living bridge over a stream until their brothers and sisters cross overhead. They change places, relieving the bridges when fatigued, so that few drown.

Certain bees remain in the hive as housekeepers, receive honey as works bring it in, then store it in the comb-cells. Other bees do their share by standing patiently, fanning the air with their wings to ventilate the hive.

All these manifestations of "mutual aid" or the "social instinct" have the rudiments of definite civilizations.

While insects work by instinct and man by intelligence, the two methods are strikingly similar. Man calls it instinct largely because it does not please his vanity to credit any creature except himself with intelligence.

If the insects are intelligent and can communicate with each other, no doubt they have observed the civilization of man and contemptuously referred to it as "instinct."

We are important on earth that's true. But we are only a part of a far more important system of nature. Each thing that

OUT of a reeking tenement she trips,
Dainty and slim and delicately fair;
Her cheeks are rose, and rose-red are her lips,
She is a flower, grown in tainted air;
You can't believe she could have flourished there,
Where even noon-day sun is in eclipse,
Where grim reality the glamor strips
From all life's dreams and leaves them stark and bare.

YET here she is, a flower lush and sweet,
That thrives, somehow, in rank and fetid soil;
Young maidenhood, with light and lifting feet,
And eyes which disillusion cannot spoil;
And—miracle which few can understand—
There are a million like her in the land!

BITUMINOUS COAL PRODUCTION DROPS OFF

Washington, Oct. 7.—Bituminous coal production dropped off a trifle during the week compared with previous weeks since the statement of the national coal strike according to estimates made public today by the geological survey whose officials say the output probably was insufficient to allow the country to build up its depleted stocks and provide for current consumption. The present week it was indicated saw about 9,600,000 tons of coal mined as compared with 9,776,000 the preceding week. During the corresponding week of 1921 the output was 3,134,000 tons.

DEATH OF WHITE HALL WOMAN WAS SUDDEN

Miss Catherine Clark Passed Away Suddenly Saturday Morning at Home of Sister—Other White Hall News.

White Hall, Oct. 7.—The death of Miss Catherine Clark occurred very suddenly at 7 o'clock this morning. She has resided with her sister, Mrs. John Shanklin, on East Sherman street, since 1911, and has been almost helpless for a number of years. This morning she was being assisted to arise and dress, when she fell back on her bed and expired. She was nearly 78 years of age, and was born in the Bradshaw Mound neighborhood, near Brushy church, six miles east of White Hall, and her entire life has been spent in this vicinity. For 25 years or more she made her home with the family of the late J. C. Kelly. Mrs. Shanklin is the only surviving member of the family. No arrangements have been made for the funeral, but the burial will be in the Jones cemetery.

Congressman Guy L. Shaw visited White Hall today. He is making a tour of his district in behalf of his re-election, and finds that the political sentiment warrants the effort at this time. Mr. Shaw has served as the first Republican congressman from this overwhelmingly Democratic district, and has succeeded in pretty well keeping aloof from playing favorites. While in White Hall he heard many claims on the postoffice appointment, but it is not likely that anything will be done before the expiration of the present term of Postmaster J. E. Wyatt unless Shaw should be forced out of office sooner than he anticipates, in which event he will use the power vested in him to put the successor of his choosing in the place. The postmastership is the main topic of political interest in White Hall at the present time.

William (Pal) White and Tommy Smith were enroute to Carrollton on a motorcycle, and just before reaching the hard road south of Belltown, the front wheel came off, throwing both boys a distance of approximately twelve feet and badly damaging their clothes, but they escaped with minor bruises. White relates that he was afraid to arise for fear that he would find himself badly hurt, and William Mace came along, righted the motorcycle, placed the two boys astride, and saw them safely started on their return to White Hall. This is the second motorcycle accident by these two boys this summer, and Smith says he will ride with White no more.

RECALLS INCIDENTS OF CIVIL WAR DAYS

Mrs. Mary Turner Carriel Tells In Letter of Amusing Happenings in This Vicinity During Civil War.

The following paragraphs are taken from a letter written by Mrs. Mary Turner Carriel, who is now sojourning in the west. The letter was written to a friend and was not intended for publication. The paragraphs follow:

While our thoughts are continually turned to war, we think of many incidents in the time of our own Civil War, long ago, some of them amusing as well as pathetic.

When Gen. U. S. Grant marched his men up West State street they passed the peach and pear orchard of Prof. J. B. Turner. He gathered many of the ripening fruit and drove up to the camp. The soldiers came around his wagon and asked if that orchard which they had just passed belonged to him, and that they only wished they were going to remain longer.

The lot just west of the peach for Gen. Grant gave orders to march further west.

The next troops, who camped in Dunlap's Grove, asked the same question and added "We made a note of it as we passed"—and they surely did.

The professor did not object to their taking the fruit, but he did object to the breaking of his trees. So he took a large dry goods box, placed it under the trees, with a double barreled shot gun poked thru a hole in it and its trigger connected by a string with a little branch of the orange orange hedge in the hole the soldiers had cut in the hedge thru which they crawled. The whole place on State street, Webster avenue and West College avenue was then surrounded by an orange orange hedge.

The old gun was faithful, made a loud report but was not loaded with shot and the soldiers soon caught on, and stole the gun.

The next time Prof. Turner took a load of peaches to the camp. The soldiers came around the wagon again and showed him the first gun they had captured which they were ready to exchange for peaches. The next protection he tried was bucket of tar suspended above the hole, which tipped over when disturbed by any one crawling thru. It too did its duty as the trail of tar down the street proved.

orchard, where now is the beautiful home of Mr. Priest, was a melon patch. The Turner boys used to enjoy lying in the grass by the side of the melon patch and shooting the moonlight thieves in the legs with salt, from the same old double barreled shot gun. Many a culprit fled in terror, fearing he would die before he could reach a doctor, but soon found only slat on his legs.

A Superb Story

Of the World's Most Wonderful, Beautiful, Patient Creature—

MOTHER

A story that will bring to the heart of every person who sees this picture and the glorious Mary Carr, an instant realization of "The Peace That Passeth All Understanding."

Motherhood and Children

It is a story faithfully depicting the humorous tragedies in childish lives—and Mother, a tireless, patient, loving, wondrous ministering angel in a gingham gown.

Wonderful Mary Carr

Who plays the "Mother" in this great picture, is the mother of six fine children. Who but such a mother could so perfectly play the part? In a recently conducted popularity contest held in New York to learn who is Queen of the Screen, Mary Carr ran second. More than two million votes were cast. Billie Burke was first, but only by a few votes.

Had the vote been nationwide, taking in the western territory the glorious Mary Carr would have been shown the absolute silver screen "Queen." And it must be remembered that in this contest were numbered all the famous screen beauties.

HER STORY TO YOU.

The story of a humble, American home and an American mother—but what a story! What a tenderly beautiful story! What a superb and heart-stirring climax!

Abraham Lincoln said:

"God must have loved common people—because he made so many of them!"

And here is just a beautiful story—with its joys and sorrows, its laughter and its dramatic thrills as Lincoln himself might have had in mind—a charming story of a sturdy American home with its beautiful American motherhood.

A marvelously human, touching appeal, tinged with romance, sparkling with incident, delicious with youth and tender with age—a story that lives and breathes and you laugh and weep with the souls on the screen. It is plain pathos, plain romance, but alive with thrills.

A Woman's Ears

Fashion has decreed of late years that a woman hide her ears. It is not for us to say that this has proved an advantage for some women. It was the fashion anyway.

And now every woman is using her ears to add to her attractiveness and to her beauty, while still keeping them partially concealed.

And Earrings And Then More Earrings

A woman no longer has just one pair of handsome diamond or pearl earrings. To these desirable properties she has added a variety of other stones in many color combinations.

It is not too much to say that a woman may today acquire style through earrings alone.

You should see our newly received novelties in this kind of jewelry.

RED CROSS CHAPTERS TO HOLD CONVENTION

Has Been Called By President Harding to Meet in Washington This Week.

WASHINGTON.—Solving of soldier service, health, child welfare and other national problems will be discussed at the annual gathering of the representatives of Red Cross chapters at the national convention, called by President Harding, to be held here Oct. 9, 10 and 11.

Early reservations from a chapter delegation indicate that a highly representative gathering from the 3,626 chapters of the nation will be present. The convention sessions will be held in the Continental Memorial hall.

President Harding will address the convention at the opening session Monday morning, October 9. During the remainder of the day the delegates will consider the interests of former service men and their families. Addresses will be made by General Pershing, Col. Albert A. Sprague, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, and Colonel Forbes of the Veterans' bureau.

Chief Justice William H. Taft will preside at the Monday evening session which will be addressed by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce and Sir Claude Hill, chairman of the international league of the Red Cross societies.

Neighboring cooperation with other American countries will be planned at a group conference to be held in the Pan-American building where Emilio del Toro, chief justice of Porto Rico will preside. Representatives of the Red Cross from Brazil, Cuba, Haiti, Costa Rica and the Latin and Central American republics will be present.

Other group conferences will be held on public health nursing home hygiene and care of the sick nutrition, Junior Red Cross work, civilian home service and other subjects.

"Formal programs will be departed from for the more extended debates and group meetings," stated James L. Fieser, vice-chairman in charge. "The increase in acquaintance and the interchange of opinion thru these gatherings will prove of increasing value in the promotion of both local and national programs."

SHOULD WATCH FOR TYPHOID FEVER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Communities depending on shallow wells for their water supply should watch out for typhoid fever at this season of the year, according to a warning issued by Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, director of the State Department of Health.

The season when typhoid fever is generally most prevalent is at hand, he stated, and he pointed to several towns in Illinois where epidemics are threatened because of poor water supply.

"Following a long dry summer the water in wells is low and all communities depending on shallow wells for their water supply should watch their steps," declared Dr. Rawlings.

Yet, while bad water often is the carrier of the contamination the source of the disease is too often human beings themselves, according to Dr. Rawlings. He said:

"A fallacious belief in the minds of a good many health officers that every case of typhoid is due to bad well water, creeks, etc., is unfortunately, still existent. We must remember that while the well, creek, milk, cheese, etc., may be polluted, there is a human being continuously or periodically supplying the polluted material.

"This is true especially of wells. The typhoid bacillus is not liable for any extended period in water and constant pollution is necessary to render the well a continuous menace.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 3, 1922.

Dear Journal: I was much interested in E. R. Brown's account of his trip through Yellowstone National park. I have made that trip twice myself and his description sounded very familiar and while I wouldn't for a moment detract from the glory of his experience I couldn't help comparing his journey with mine in 1908.

I had in my company Mr. and Mrs. D. K. McCarty, Mrs. Engle and daughter, Miss Frances Miss Lena Johnson and two little children. I was much impressed by the changes of time when, a few years later, I was in the photograph gallery of Mollenbrock & McCullough I saw the portrait of a charming young lady and was told that it was the likeness of Miss Eileen Smith, one of those two children. Her parents moved to Springfield not long after our journey and I lost sight of her.

We had a big mess and baggage wagon drawn by two sturdy mules, as gentle as lambs, and a large covered spring wagon for our party a driver for each wagon and a cook and such a cook as he was. Even Mrs. English and Mrs. Carney, immaculate housekeepers and superior cooks, freely admitted they couldn't equal his hot griddle cakes made without milk.

With all respect to Mr. Brown four and a half days in that wilderness is little more than an aggravation. We spent nearly two weeks and that time was all too short, and the cost each was no more than he paid. We strolled leisurely along and saw things well. One day we made a side trip up Mount Washburn going over a road cut right through a snowbank six to twelve and sixteen feet deep and though it was mid-summer the surface on top was covered with snow and in sheer boyish glee Mr. McCarty stood on his head on the white covering of the mountain. In the distance we saw some mountain sheep and other animals.

The wild animals were very friendly. To the terror of Mrs. English, who couldn't get used to them, the bears would come around some of our camps while deer were friendly neighbors. We had an amusing experience one night. There was a spring with a camping ground convenient and many travelers stopped there for the night which an old bear discovered to his satisfaction so he prepared a den right near by so that he could get his living easily.

As we were getting the outfit out of the big wagon the cook remarked to the driver:

"If Mrs. English knew that bear's den so near us she would hardly rest easily tonight."

"What was that you said about me?" said the lady who was but a short distance behind them.

"Why, we were speaking about a bear's den in that mountain two miles over yonder."

The old fellow didn't appear till the morning when he came near the camp to see what we had for him and we gave him all the scraps we had. He was a fine fellow and the way he fearlessly came about and properly conducted himself made me think of the millennium. He ate all we had to give him and quietly went back to his den.

Once a regular old grizzly walked into the Fountain hotel and the manager wired head quarters at the entrance if they couldn't shoot him, but the answer came back, "No, turn the hose on him."

They did it and he was terror-stricken. Rushing through the kitchen he grabbed a quarter of beef and disappeared in the woods. There are other bears seemed to give him his instructions for after that he made no more trouble but would come around the hotel toward evening as in the custom with the bears get his feed and finally two old time hunters passed that way and recognized in the grizzly an old time enemy whom they had tried in vain to destroy.

That is the way to see the park and its wonders right if one can raise a party and if the auto has not crowded out the old fashioned wagons and guides. Next to it is to go with an auto camping party and stay over a day occasionally. We had a pleasant visit a day or two since from George Waite who is here settling up some of his affairs. He has bought a sixteen acre ranch within eighteen miles of San Diego, Cal., and lives there now. Six acres of the place not tillable is on a hill side but will rise trees. He has a young orange orchard of the three acres and expects to add several acres of grapes which are a well paying crop. There is a fine bungalow on the place and he, his wife and son seem to be prepared to enjoy life aright.

Last evening I was pleased to receive a telephone call from Rev. Walter Aitken, a Scotchman pastor of one of the largest Methodist churches in the city. He was my room mate and a very agreeable one, when I crossed the ocean to Glasgow in 1909. He was at one time, I think, member of the Illinois conference.

This region has in it many who have remarkable histories. One is Lee Herron whose adventures are indeed most romantic and remarkable. He is the son of a Pennsylvania doctor and at the beginning of the civil war enlisted in the 83d Pennsylvania Infantry, a body which saw more fighting and lost more men than any other regiment with but one exception, the 55th New Hampshire, which lost 295 while the Pennsylvania body lost 283 and that not thru any incompetence of blunder but severe duty.

After the war he returned home and remained a year or two and then enlisted again and went west

S. W. NICHOLS WRITES AGAIN FROM NEBRASKA

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 3, 1922.

Dear Journal: I was much interested in E. R. Brown's account of his trip through Yellowstone National park. I have made that trip twice myself and his description sounded very familiar and while I wouldn't for a moment detract from the glory of his experience I couldn't help comparing his journey with mine in 1908.

I had in my company Mr. and Mrs. D. K. McCarty, Mrs. Engle and daughter, Miss Frances Miss Lena Johnson and two little children. I was much impressed by the changes of time when, a few years later, I was in the photograph gallery of Mollenbrock & McCullough I saw the portrait of a charming young lady and was told that it was the likeness of Miss Eileen Smith, one of those two children. Her parents moved to Springfield not long after our journey and I lost sight of her.

We had a big mess and baggage wagon drawn by two sturdy mules, as gentle as lambs, and a large covered spring wagon for our party a driver for each wagon and a cook and such a cook as he was. Even Mrs. English and Mrs. Carney, immaculate housekeepers and superior cooks, freely admitted they couldn't equal his hot griddle cakes made without milk.

With all respect to Mr. Brown four and a half days in that wilderness is little more than an aggravation. We spent nearly two weeks and that time was all too short, and the cost each was no more than he paid. We strolled leisurely along and saw things well. One day we made a side trip up Mount Washburn going over a road cut right through a snowbank six to twelve and sixteen feet deep and though it was mid-summer the surface on top was covered with snow and in sheer boyish glee Mr. McCarty stood on his head on the white covering of the mountain. In the distance we saw some mountain sheep and other animals.

The wild animals were very friendly. To the terror of Mrs. English, who couldn't get used to them, the bears would come around some of our camps while deer were friendly neighbors. We had an amusing experience one night. There was a spring with a camping ground convenient and many travelers stopped there for the night which an old bear discovered to his satisfaction so he prepared a den right near by so that he could get his living easily.

As we were getting the outfit out of the big wagon the cook remarked to the driver:

"If Mrs. English knew that bear's den so near us she would hardly rest easily tonight."

"What was that you said about me?" said the lady who was but a short distance behind them.

"Why, we were speaking about a bear's den in that mountain two miles over yonder."

The old fellow didn't appear till the morning when he came near the camp to see what we had for him and we gave him all the scraps we had. He was a fine fellow and the way he fearlessly came about and properly conducted himself made me think of the millennium. He ate all we had to give him and quietly went back to his den.

Once a regular old grizzly walked into the Fountain hotel and the manager wired head quarters at the entrance if they couldn't shoot him, but the answer came back, "No, turn the hose on him."

They did it and he was terror-stricken. Rushing through the kitchen he grabbed a quarter of beef and disappeared in the woods. There are other bears seemed to give him his instructions for after that he made no more trouble but would come around the hotel toward evening as in the custom with the bears get his feed and finally two old time hunters passed that way and recognized in the grizzly an old time enemy whom they had tried in vain to destroy.

That is the way to see the park and its wonders right if one can raise a party and if the auto has not crowded out the old fashioned wagons and guides. Next to it is to go with an auto camping party and stay over a day occasionally. We had a pleasant visit a day or two since from George Waite who is here settling up some of his affairs. He has bought a sixteen acre ranch within eighteen miles of San Diego, Cal., and lives there now. Six acres of the place not tillable is on a hill side but will rise trees. He has a young orange orchard of the three acres and expects to add several acres of grapes which are a well paying crop. There is a fine bungalow on the place and he, his wife and son seem to be prepared to enjoy life aright.

Last evening I was pleased to receive a telephone call from Rev. Walter Aitken, a Scotchman pastor of one of the largest Methodist churches in the city. He was my room mate and a very agreeable one, when I crossed the ocean to Glasgow in 1909. He was at one time, I think, member of the Illinois conference.

This region has in it many who have remarkable histories. One is Lee Herron whose adventures are indeed most romantic and remarkable. He is the son of a Pennsylvania doctor and at the beginning of the civil war enlisted in the 83d Pennsylvania Infantry, a body which saw more fighting and lost more men than any other regiment with but one exception, the 55th New Hampshire, which lost 295 while the Pennsylvania body lost 283 and that not thru any incompetence of blunder but severe duty.

After the war he returned home and remained a year or two and then enlisted again and went west to fight the Indians in 1866. He first was stationed near Ft. Dodge Kansas then the center of hostilities by the Indians against the whites. Mrs. Lee said three daughters had been taken captive by the redskins who appeared with a flag of truce and offered to trade two of the girls for some guns and supplies. Lee was made one of the party to make the exchange.

The little party went to the camp of the Kiowas where they found a large body of Indians numbering over 2000 and he says he young bucks with their ponies were the finest riders he ever saw and he later saw in Russia the famous Cosacks, supposed to be the most wonderful equestrians in the world. The little band didn't know whether they would ever see their own camp again but they made the exchange for two of the girls, who had been badly treated by the Indians, and returned in safety. When Gen. Sherman heard of the incident he gave orders that there be no more like it for the Indians were too treacherous to be trusted.

A few days later a band of 2000 Kiowas appeared and asked to trade the mother and other daughter or a lot of supplies but the commander with 160 troops got the chiefs to the camp and held them as hostages till the mother and daughter were surrendered. The father and youngest child had been murdered when as emigrants they were traveling westward to seek their fortune, and the mother and three daughters were held as prisoners.

He had another thrilling adventure when sent with important dispatches. He met a mule team and four men with a load of wood in a very dangerous place. They were attacked by Indians, made a breastworks of the wagon and while several of the party were wounded they held out heroically till help arrived and the red devils were driven away. For his conduct on that occasion congress awarded him a special medal.

He saw a vast amount of hard and severe service on the frontier as Ft. Dodge was the pivotal point where emigrants secured supplies while traversing the Santa Fe rail. Many parties were wholly annihilated by the redskins and others had hard encounters.

In 1878 he was with the American forces at Baku, Trans-Caucasia, and might have made a fortune had he availed himself of the opportunity to speculate in oil property. He is the only Nebraska veteran wearing one of the 300 medals voted by congress for exceptional bravery and arduous service and on this account he was one honorary pall bearer from Nebraska at the ceremonials attending the dedication of the monument to the unknown soldier at Arlington cemetery near the national capital.

Let the "Estate Oak" Solve Your Heating Problem

The ash box in this famous stove is a single cored casting. No joints means no leaks—and no leaks means perfect control over the fire. But the Estate Patented Screw Draft Registers are only one of the many reasons for the superiority of the Estate Oak. The Estate Patented Screw Draft Registers which work with all the precision of the valve in a steam radiator, are well worthy of mention; the Estate Double Strength Single Fire-Pot, which never wears through, ought to be considered; the Estate Anti-Buckling Ring is another important improvement; and all of these features combine to produce such perfect fire control that we can guarantee every Estate Oak to keep fire fifty hours on one charge of any kind of soft coal.

ILLINOIS HAS NEW LIBRARIES

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Twenty new libraries have been established in Illinois during the last three years, according to the report of the library extension division of the Illinois State Library. They comprise six city libraries, six village libraries, seven township libraries and one county library. "There are now 227 free public libraries supported by taxation or an endowment," added the report, which covered the period from January 1, 1919, to December 31, 1921, and was submitted by Anna May Price, superintendent. The report has just been published by authority of the state of Illinois.

"The increase in the circulation of traveling libraries and individual loans," the report said, "is more than 186 percent. In 1917-1918, the number of requests was 4,326; for 1919-1921, the requests numbered 14,679; 36,004 volumes were loaned during 1917-18, while the number for 1919-21 totaled 118,414.

"There are no fixed collections of books. Each traveling library or individual loan is made up to fit the needs of the community or the person to whom it is sent.

"There are 25,000 books available for traveling libraries and individual loans."

The report advised against the formation of village libraries and recommended units of a county library system. "The largest tax possible for the village," it is contended, "is only a very small sum. Whereas the smallest community if part of a county system could in a manner reach the ideal. Because of the larger county appropriation, a larger collection of books could be purchased. Because of the trained librarian, there would be a better selection of books and unnecessary duplication could be avoided. The central library could be drawn upon for special books. Books could be sent by parcel post or auto wagon to the very door of the farmer."

CARTHAGE DEFEATED ILLINOIS COLLEGE

Blue and White Lose Opening Game By Score of 10 to 0—Teams Were Evenly Matched.

Carthage College defeated Illinois College on a muddy field yesterday afternoon by a score of 10 to 0. The break of the game came for Carthage in the second quarter when Harter the visitors full-back grabbed a blocked punt and raced thirty yards for a touchdown. The try for point was made. In the third quarter Carthage added three more points with a kick from placement by Lyons.

The game was played under adverse conditions as the field was slippery and a misty rain fell thru out the contest. Both teams held on to the ball fairly well and in fumbles and recoveries the teams about split even, neither gaining any decisive advantage in this respect.

The teams were evenly matched and for the most part straight football was played. This was true thru out the first half. During this time Illinois excelled in ground gaining but neither had the punch to keep up the work and punting by both teams was a frequent occurrence.

Carthage made most of her gains thru end runs as the runners were given splendid interference. The visitors were not able to do much against the Illinois line, which played excellently thru out.

Most of Illinois' gains were made thru the line, tho in the closing minutes of play several passes were tried and Mellon got away with two for thirty yard gains.

During most of the first half Illinois kicked on the first down thus throwing the burden of the work on the Carthage team which would try for gains on the first three downs and kick on the fourth down. Owing to the slippery ball Roberts who played full back at the start of the game was outkicked by the Carthage punter who did not seem to be bothered by weather conditions. After Coach Harmon sent Plattner into the game, Illinois had the advantage of the kicking as he got away several beautiful punts. He also did some good work at passing the ball.

Carthage Well Balanced
Coach Omer has built an evenly balanced team for Carthage this year. The men showed the results of their early training and the benefit of the game last Saturday. They got off their plays in better shape than the Blue and White team and their interference was one of the features of the game especially on end runs. They were on their toes and ready when the break of the game came to take advantage of it.

Excellent offensive work for the visitors was done by Harter, Lyons, Cawthon and Osburn while on defense, Neumann, H. Wagner, Cheney and Hansen did some good work.

Illinois' line showed to better advantage and it is safe to say that if the same teams were to meet a week from now or any time during the season Illinois would win.

The star of the Illinois team was Rogers. Playing defensive full-back, he did some of the greatest work in returning punts ever seen on Illinois' field. Twice he carried the ball back forty yards and each time he left Carthage tacklers strewn along the field and it usually took two or three men to get him down. Reid, Reis, Dale, Weber, and Gunn did some good tackling for Illinois.

All of the men in the Illinois line did excellent work and Illinois bids fair to have one of the greatest lines in its history before the season closes. The other backfield men also did good work and Plattner's kicking looked mighty good to the fans. The defeated Illinois is not downhearted and should come back stronger than ever in the remaining games of the schedule. The game gave Coach Harmon an opportunity to get a line on the ability of his men and no doubt he will be able to rearrange his lineup to better advantage the coming week. The lineup:

Illinois: Carthage: Dale, RE, H. Wagner, Reis, RT, Stull, Gunn, LG, E. Wagner, Weber, LT, Leshner, Mellon, LE, Cheney, Foreman, QB, Osburn, Rogers, LH, Lyons, Struck, RH, Cawthon, J. Roberts, FB, Harter.

Time of Periods 15 minutes; Referee, Muhl, University of Illinois; umpire, Benjamin, Illinois Normal; head linesman, Larson, Rock Island High. Substitutes—Carthage, Hansen for H. Wagner, Osburn for Cawthon, Sandelin for Osburn, Englehardt for E. Wagner, Illinois; George for Weber, Wifaschek for Dale, Plattner for J. Roberts, Meskimen for Rogers, Short for Struck, Elder for Foreman.

CHICAGO WON ON STRAIGHT FOOTBALL

Defeated Strong Georgia Team By Score of 20 to 0—Thomas Played a Sensational Game Scoring Two Touchdowns.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7—Displaying polished team work and relying almost entirely on straight football the University of Chicago machine rolled up a 20 to 0 score over the University of Georgia in the first game of Chicago's season today.

A crowd of 18,000 witnessed the intersectional game despite overhanging skies which threatened another downpour. The game was played on a slippery, rain-soaked field which made forward passing difficult.

Halfback Johnny Thoma, whose playing enabled Chicago to triumph over Princeton last year, was the most sensational performance of the day, altho Jimmy Pyott, the other half, was a close second.

With fullback Zorn they carried the ball nine out of ten times and ripped big holes in the Georgia defense on almost every attempt.

Thomas counted both touchdowns after carrying the ball down the field on repeated smashes at the right side of the Georgia line and Pyott scored twice with short drop kicks.

Georgia made a plucky fight, stopping Chicago from downs three times inside of the five yard line. Randall, Georgia's star left half twice ran for slight gains after the Georgia line had disabled one knee and was taken from the game in the second quarter.

Thomas broke up the Georgia overhead attack as Randall was the crack's chief dispatcher. Only four passes were attempted during the game, one of which was successful. Pyott intercepted both of the Georgians' passes and returned one of them for 20 yards.

Chicago used short passes over the line one of which Caruso to Pyott netted ten yards in the last quarter and set the stage for the last touchdown.

Stagg's feature last year a line drive in which the whole back field drives thru to clear the way for the runner was used time after time with great success the right side of the Georgia line crumpling before drives by Thomas and Zorn.

Coach Stagg made frequent substitutions but in spite of the fact that he used a number of second string men the maroons scored 20 first downs to Georgia's one, clearly revealing the ground gaining stretch of the two elevens. Georgia was able to make first down only in the first period.

OHIO STATE HAD NARROW ESCAPE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7—Ohio State met a tartar today in the form of the Ohio Wesleyan football eleven and was held to a score of 5 to 0 failing to score a touchdown. The smaller school fought a plucky battle and on two occasions came within scoring distance of the Ohio goal. A safety scored when a Wesleyan punt was blocked and a drop kick from the toe of Quarterback Hoge Workman from the 23 yard line accounted for the Buckeyes' points.

The game marked the official opening of Ohio State's new $1,500,000 stadium and was witnessed by a crowd of approximately 25,000 persons. The stadium will be officially dedicated October 21, when Michigan will meet the Buckeyes.

PURDUE WON FROM MILLIKIN 10 TO 0

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 7—In a drizzling rain, Purdue defeated James Millikin College of Decatur, Ill., 10 to 0 today. The soggy field proved much open field work and the ball was too slippery to attempt many passes. Millikin made first down only twice, but at four different times the visitors' line held when Purdue seemed within easy striking distance. Eversman and Fleischman starred for Purdue, while Simpson put up the best fight for Millikin. Purdue's score resulted from a touchdown and a drop kick from field.

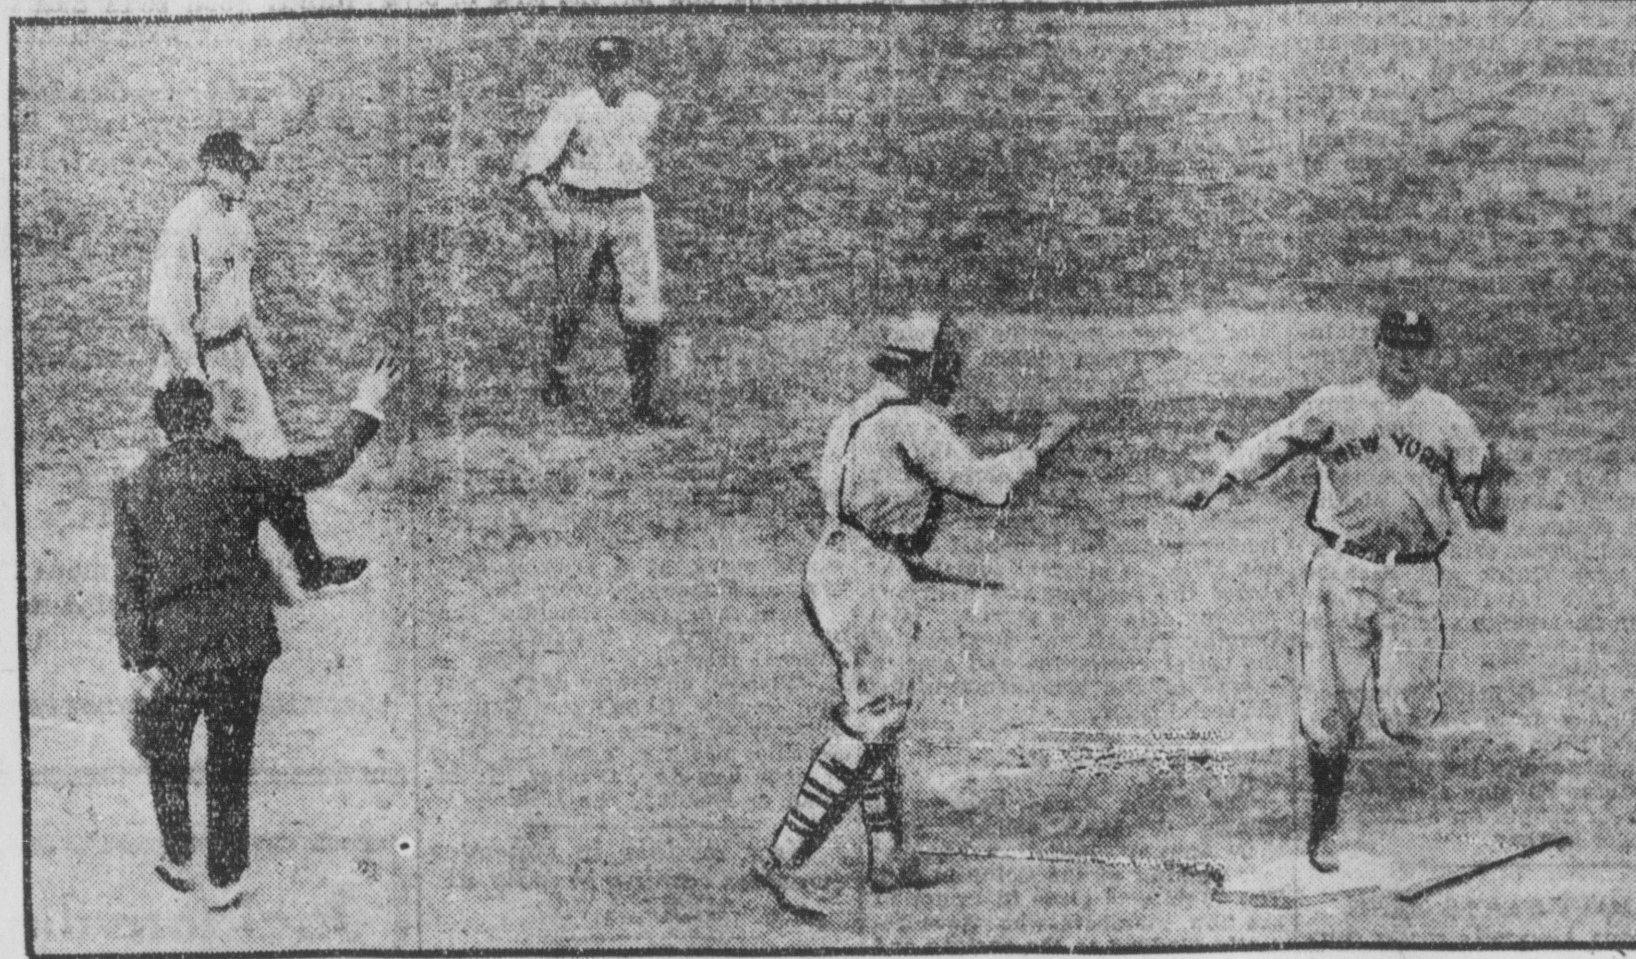

NORTHWESTERN EASILY DEFEATED BELOIT

CHICAGO, Oct. 7—Northwestern University had little trouble in defeating the Beloit eleven today 17 to 0 on a muddy field. Despite Beloit's heavy lines, Northwestern got downs almost at will and kept the ball in Beloit territory the greater part of the game. Penfield right tackle was responsible for the drop kick scoring the extra three points. Northwestern made its first touchdown in the first quarter thru an off tackle play and its second in the third in plunges.

PRINCETON DEFEATED VIRGINIA 5 TO 0

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 7—Princeton won the second game of the season today defeating Virginia by five to nothing. Many fumbles and constant slipping marred the game, which was played in a steady rain.

Here's First Run Scored In World's Series Opening Game

Swartz Quarterback and Burton Full Back Are Stars of Kansas Aggies.

MANHATTAN, Kans., Oct. 7—Keen football judgment on the part of Head Coach Charles Bachman of the Kansas Aggies has resulted in the development of two outstanding football players, Swartz, quarterback and Burton halfback.

When Bachman came to the Aggies in 1920, Swartz came out as a halfback. He has been playing halfback on one of the Kansas conference teams and altho a fairly good man, had never been a conspicuous player in that position. Bachman saw he was ill-fitted for the position and gave him a try at quarterback.

The youngster displayed an unusual amount of judgement during his freshman year and last year, his first on the Varsity team he piloted the Aggies much better than any quarterback on the Aggie team during the last three or four years. He was the unanimous choice of Missouri Valley coaches as quarterback on the second all-conference team last year. With another year's experience, he will make a strong bid for the same honor on the first all-conference eleven.

Burton had played almost every position in football except halfback when Bachman took charge of Aggie football, but Bachman saw he was naturally better fitted for halfback than any other position. He was probably the most feared back on the Aggie team last season and it was his spectacular playing which focused opposing teams' attention, leaving openings for substantial gains by other players. The winning Aggie touchdown against Missouri last year was a direct result of Missouri's watchful attitude toward Burton, absolutely neglecting Sebring, right end, who was enabled to get away with the forward pass which resulted in the winning score.

IOWA RAN OVER KNOX COLLEGE 61-0

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 7—Iowa's big ten champions ran away from the Knox College football team today piling up a score of 61 to 0. It was Iowa's first game of the year. Parkins and Locke were the huge scorers for Iowa, both men smashing the line for long gains. The Hawkeye team scored almost at will.

Second string men made up the squad for Iowa after the second period. Three scouts from Yale witnessed the game. Iowa plays Yale at New Haven next Saturday.

WISCONSIN TOO MUCH FOR CARLETON

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7—Wisconsin overwhelmed Carleton College 41 to 0 today in the Badgers first football game of the season. Without resorting to intricate plays, Wisconsin crashed thru the Minnesota team for six touchdowns and Tebell kicked goal five times.

MANAGERS TALK ABOUT SERIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Broken spirit is burying the Yankees in the pot of world series defeat, in the opinion of John McGraw, Giant leader.

"There's no fight left in them," said McGraw after the fourth game today. "If they had been fighting they would have not lost in nine innings for the same reason on the first all-conference eleven."

Burton had played almost every position in football except halfback when Bachman took charge of Aggie football, but Bachman saw he was naturally better fitted for halfback than any other position. He was probably the most feared back on the Aggie team last season and it was his spectacular playing which focused opposing teams' attention, leaving openings for substantial gains by other players.

DECATUR HIGH WINS FROM I. S. D.

Decatur high school defeated the Illinois school for the deaf at Decatur yesterday afternoon, the final score being 7 to 0. The game was hard fought and the high school lads found their work out for them to win from the local lads. The Illinois school lads were outwitted and held Decatur well thru out.

ROODHOUSE SMOTHERS ROUTT HIGH SCHOOL

Roodhouse smothered the Routt high school team at Roodhouse yesterday afternoon by a score of 76 to 0. It was the first game ever played by Routt and the boys were outclassed by their heavier and more experienced opponent. Roodhouse correspondent for the Journal in reporting the game to the Journal said the Routt boys never gave up and gave the greatest exhibition of the old fighting spirit ever seen on the Roodhouse gridiron.

WAVERLY WON FROM ASHLAND

Ashland's high school football team journeyed down to Waverly Saturday to meet defeat at the hands of the Waverly high to a score of 62 to 0.

At no time in the game was Waverly in danger of defeat. Turner of the Waverly high made three long runs, one of which was 80 yards for a kick off in the second half. Jolly also intercepted a forward pass and run 40 yards for a touch down. Walter Bryan made a 50 yard run and was credited for a touch down.

DEPAUL VICTORIOUS
Chicago, Oct. 7—De Paul today defeated the University of Dubuque on a muddy field 13 to 0.

GENE SARAZEN WON FROM WALTER HAGEN

Takes 72-Hole Match For the Official World's Championship of Golf—Will Play Second Match in Near Future.

RYE, N. Y., Oct. 7—Gene Sarazen crowned his wonderfully successful season today when he defeated Walter Hagen 3 to 2 in their 72 hole match for the unofficial world's championship of golf. Sarazen winner of the American open and professional golfers' association titles was two down after he had battled for 36 holes with Hagen over the Oakmont Country Club course in Pittsburgh Friday, but he quickly overcame that lead in this morning's round and led one up when they started the final 18 holes over the West Chester-Baltimore course in the afternoon. Once in the lead he refused to relinquish it. Sarazen and Hagen hold the two highest titles in professional and they agreed that whoever was returned the loser in the 72 holes just completed would be given another opportunity and a second match will be arranged with Chicago as the likely scene for the first 36 holes.

The final 36 holes was contested in adverse weather conditions. A mist which drifted across the course during the meeting turned into rain and later a down pour.

There was a gleam of hope for Hagen when he won the 9th hole this afternoon and reduced Sarazen's lead from 3 to 2 holes and then put his tee shot within putting distance at the short tenth. Sarazen drove into a trap and his out left him 12 feet from the cup. Hagen's supporters imagined their favorite would win the hole and he but one down, but Sarazen holed the putt to halve in 3 and from then on was unbeatable.

JACKSONVILLE HIGH TIES PEORIA CENTRAL

Teams Play Scoreless Tie at Peoria—Both Teams Played Entire Game Without Substitution.

Peoria, Oct. 7.—Jacksonville high at Peoria Central battled to a scoreless tie here today on a heavy field.

Both teams played the entire game without a substitution and were so evenly matched that neither could gain with any consistency. During the entire first half Jacksonville kept the ball in Peoria territory. Several times they threatened to score but penalties robbed them of the opportunity.

During the third quarter Central kept the ball in Jacksonville territory. This was the only time the locals had a chance to score but they lacked the punch to break Jacksonville's defense.

Jacksonville played an excellent game on both defense and offense. Arnold, Massey and Hackett featured the defensive playing while Hunt and Arnold starred on offense. The team was unable to get home last night and remained in Peoria and will arrive home this morning. The lineup:

Jacksonville, O. Peoria, O.
Massey, LT, Finney
Hopper, LG, Moody
Hackett, C, BH
Dewese, RG, Stout
L. Brucewell, RT, Harbin
Putnam, RE, Finn
Hunt, QB, Maple

AMERICAN LEGION WILL HOLD NATIONAL ATHLETIC MEET

NEW ORLEANS, La.—With an entry list of 1600 athletes and 46 rifle teams, the American Legion national athletic championships, to be held during the Legion national convention in New Orleans, Oct. 16-20, loom up as one of the largest meets held in this country.

Reports received at convention headquarters from Legion departments indicate that full track and field teams will be brought to the gathering. In addition to the 46 rifle teams from the various departments, hundreds of individuals will shoot for medals in the Legion free-for-all. Entries in all athletic events close October 1.

The list of names of athletes participating reads like a roster of the country's best athletic talent. Many Legion men entered have held or now hold world's records. California's track and field team will be led by Charles Padgett, world's champion and holder of the record for the 100 yard dash, his time for that distance being 9 and three-fifths seconds. In a recent athletic carnival held at Stanford University Stadium, winning ex-service men were chosen to represent California in all events. Their rifle teams is said to be strong.

Johnny Weismuller, champion speed swimmer, and Norman Ross, interlarded Olympic swimmer, are among the entrants. Weismuller will endeavor to break some of his own records at the Audubon Park Lagoon where the swimming will take place. J. S. Prosser, low hurdle record holder, and H. E. Hagan, 220-yard man of intercollegiate fame, will run for Illinois, and Bob Ganser, former national amateur golf champion, will be among the entrants.

Walter Hoover, world's champion orsman, has challenged all comers. He represents the Minnesota department of the Legion which has challenged all other departments to four and eight orsman races. A complete track and field team will be put in the field by the Minnesota Department.

Fifteen swimmers, who made records at Lakewood, Ga., in the Legion state department meet, will come to New Orleans Track and field men were also chosen at the Georgia contest.

In addition to the Marine rifle team from Quantico, Virginia is sending three athletes who are record holders in their chosen events. Francis H. Byrd, jumper, is just a shade under the world's record in standing and running broad jumps in addition to being a formidable weight man.

WHITE SOX-CUB GAME POSTPONED

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Cancellation of the third game of the city series between the White Sox and the Cubs for the championship of Chicago drew strong disapproval from Charles A. Comiskey, president and owner of the White Sox. The Old Roman declared that in his judgment the field was in condition to play having been covered by tarpaulins last night and today to protect it from the rain. "We have played on fields much worse than my field is today," declared Mr. Comiskey. "It is true there were a few spots which were wet but many times we have resorted to burning gasoline or spreading sawdust so as not to disappoint fans who look forward to the game. I honestly believe it was possible to play. If the umpires were going to call the game off, why didn't they come out early—about noon, so that the public would not be compelled to make the fruitless trip from all parts of the city to the ball park. It's an outrage."

Thousands of ticket holders and fans started their journey to the ball park shortly after noon and at game time were gathered about the gates trying to get into the park.

In the third period Johnson from behind North Carolina's line kicked the ball against the post it rebounded and Eddy of Yale fell on it for Yale's second touchdown. Frank Lock is a patient at Passavant hospital with a gun shot wound in the right side and George Lyons is held at the police station as his assailant. The shooting occurred about 11 o'clock Saturday night near the residence of Gabe Postley in North Sandy street.

Following the shooting the police were notified and went to the scene, and took Lock to Passavant hospital where he was attended by Dr. H. C. Woltman.

Lyons had disappeared when the officers arrived. However, search was made for him and he was placed under arrest about 1 o'clock this (Sunday) morning at an unfinished house owned by his stepfather, Frank Black in Ashland avenue and locked up. Chief Kiloran and the night force made the arrest.

The trouble is said to have started over Lyons' alleged slapping of a daughter of Lock, with whom he had been keeping company. Lock went to the Postley home and asked for his daughter and it is alleged that Lyons shot him without provocation.

Lyons is a married man and is about 23 years of age. Lock is about 30 years old. The parties are all colored.

DR. F. S. HAYDEN DIES OF HEART FAILURE

The Rev. Frederick S. Hayden, dean emeritus of Illinois college, died very suddenly of heart failure Saturday afternoon, during the third quarter of a football game on the athletic field of the college. Dr. Hayden had been watching the game from the side lines with great interest, following the contending teams as they struggled up and down the field. Undoubtedly the excitement of the game was too great a strain upon his heart, which had been in a weakened condition for some years, as just after an exciting play he suddenly collapsed. Friends ran to his assistance and carried him at once into the gymnasium, where a physician did all that was possible. Dr. Hayden's death must have been practically instantaneous as he showed no signs of consciousness after being picked up and carried to the gymnasium. He died as he had lived for the last twenty years, full of interest in and devotion to the students and to the life on the college campus.

In the death of Dr. Hayden Illinois college has lost the most beloved member of its faculty. Hundreds of his former students as well as those now in college, will be deeply and sincerely grieved to know that he will no longer inspire the young men and women of that institution as he has done for the last twenty-four years.

Not only will his loss be felt by the college which he has so loyally served, but also by his former parishioners of the Congregational church, and by the city where his personality and his influence for good in all civic enterprises has won him a place in the hearts of all who knew him.

Dr. Hayden was born in Rochester, N. Y., in 1846. His early life was spent in Milwaukee, Wis., which city he left in 1865 upon graduating from the Classical Gymnasium. He entered Yale University in the fall of the same year, and was graduated with the class of 1869. Among his classmates and warm associates are the Rev. S. H. Dana, former pastor of the Congregational church at Quincy, Ill.; the Rev. Theodore Pruden, recently pastor of the Congregational church at West Newton, Mass., and E. J. Whitney, prominent citizen of New Haven, Conn.

Dr. Hayden was graduated from the Yale Theological Seminary in 1873. One year later he was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry at Angelica, N. Y. His next pastorate was at Flint, Mich. It was while pastor of the Congregational church at Flint that he met Miss Sarah Murdock Gold, whom he married in 1884. In 1882 he was called to the First Congregational church at St. Joseph, Mo., which church he served until 1888, when he became the pastor of the Congregational church in this city.

Dr. Hayden's services to our community have been many and influential. In addition to his fourteen years as pastor of the Congregational church, he has been a member of the faculty of Illinois college since 1899, acting first as Lecturer on Theism and Christianity, then as professor of Philosophy and Biblical Literature and as Dean of the college faculty. Dr. Hayden was also one of the organizers of the Social Service League, or the Associated Charities, as it was first called, and was for many years its efficient secretary. He was also for many years an active member of the Literary Union.

In addition to his work as a teacher at Illinois college, he rendered an inestimable service both to the alumni and to the college by drawing the two into ever closer and stronger relationship by the writing of hundreds of letters during the period of the world war, expressing interest in the welfare of the alumni and keeping them in touch with the progress of their Alma Mater.

In his work as professor of Philosophy and Biblical Literature at Illinois college, Dr. Hayden helped the young people who came into his classes to understand modern thought and science, and to lay solid foundations of faith. Furthermore, his personality was undoubtedly the greatest influence on the campus for culture and refinement.

It was only last June that Dr. Hayden returned to Yale to attend the fifty-third reunion of his class, of which he is said by one of his classmates to have been the most popular member, not only in the old days of '65 to '69, but also of these later years, when his presence was the life of their reunions.

The scholarly attainments of Dr. Hayden were manifested even when he was a student at Yale, where he won the prize in English composition in his junior year and was elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa honor society in his senior year. His popularity is also attested by his election to the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and to the Wooden Spoon committee of nine in his junior year.

Dr. Hayden is survived by his wife, Mrs. F. S. Hayden, two daughters, Miss Charlotte C. Hayden of Plainfield, N. J., and Mrs. George O. Bradford of Columbus, O.; one son, Mr. Thomas G. Hayden of Bay City, Mich., and by three brothers, Mr. William Hayden of Denver, Colo., Mr. George R. Hayden of Cos Cob, Conn., and Mr. Harvey S. Hayden of Chicago.

Arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

Friends are requested not to send flowers.

CONGREGATIONAL MEN IN FIRST MEETING

Brotherhood of Local Church in Opening Meeting of Season Friday Night — Rev. C. M. Eames Speaker.

On Friday evening the Brotherhood of the Congregational church had the first meeting of the season. A fine time was enjoyed with a large attendance in spite of the inclement weather. The following members were present:

J. P. Lippincott, C. A. Hall, Ed Spink, R. W. Woolston, W. S. Camp, Dr. C. E. Black, W. D. Wood, C. S. Smith, L. S. Doane, Roger Carter, W. A. Fay, Frank Irving, Dean Scott, Harry Capps, Frank Hehl, T. P. Carter, J. W. Bowen, George Bancroft, Rev. Stickney, M. B. Crabbe.

An excellent supper was served by Rev. Stickney and L. S. Doane assisted by Stanley Woods, Cecil Woods, Roger Carter, Henry Alexander, and Clair Milligan, all students of Illinois college.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Prof. R. W. Woolston, and at his suggestion the guests from Illinois college were introduced to the members by Rev. Stickney. Frederick G. Meyers, of the faculty of the state school for the blind, played a group of three beautiful violin numbers in his usual brilliant manner. Mr. Meyers' performance was a real treat. The secretary, M. B. Crabbe, then read the report of the last meeting held in May.

After a few remarks concerning the good of the order the president called on Frank Hehl for some ideas on boys' work in which he is particularly interested. Mr. Hehl spoke at length on the fine work being done among the young people by the boy scouts and girls' camp fire associations. He then put before the brotherhood the idea of the Wolf Cub Pack, whose members are to range from eight to twelve years of age. The organization is to be non-denominational and open to all and under a director of boys' work of the community house.

The matter of the forum meetings during the coming winter was discussed. Rev. Stickney suggested that they be divided into two groups of five or six meetings each, one group before the holiday season and one some few weeks later. Dr. Black moved that the forum meetings be continued with the changes suggested by the pastor and it was promptly seconded by Dean Scott. The motion carried unanimously.

Rev. C. M. Eames, Presbyterian missionary from China, was introduced by Prof. Woolston in a few well chosen remarks. He gave a very interesting and instructive address describing the economic, civic and religious life of the Chinese people in Northern China where he has been engaged in missionary work for the past fifteen years. His description of the customs and habits of these Oriental people was interesting to the listeners.

CANADA'S YIELD OF WHEAT IS GREATEST SINCE ITS 1915 CROP

The Average This Year is Seventeen and One-Quarter Bushels Per Acre—Oats Crop is Also Good—Some Yields of 60 Bushels of Wheat Reported for This Year

(By The Associated Press)
OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 7.—The average wheat yield per acre for all Canada this year, according to the preliminary crop estimate of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, is seventeen and one-quarter bushels. This average is higher than for any year since the bumper crop of 1915 when it was 26 bushels, the next highest being in 1916 when it was 17.10 bushels, and higher than the decennial average of fifteen and three-quarter bushels, according to the bureau.
The bureau's estimate shows the average yields per acre for all Canada for all grains with last year's averages in brackets as follows: Fall wheat 22 1/4 bushels (21 1/2); spring wheat 17 (12 3/4); all wheat 17 1/4 (13); oats 34 1/4 (25 1/4); barley 28 (21 1/4); rye 20 1/2 (11 3/4); flaxseed 10 1/4 (7 1/4).
For oats the average of 34 1/4 bushels per acre has not been exceeded since 1916, when it was 37.30 bushels, and in 1915 when it was 40 1/4, the bureau states. It is 2 1/2 bushels over the per acre average of the last ten years of 32 1/4 bushels.
The maximum yield per acre of all grains is much higher than these averages, the bureau shows. Fields of 60 bushels of wheat and 100 bushels of oats have been reported from many parts of the western provinces. Eighty-two bushels of wheat to the acre is the world's record established several years ago by Seager Wheeler, on his farm near Rosthern in Saskatchewan.
Total yields of all grains based on these averages and on an estimate of the areas sown are as follows: Fall wheat 16,932,000 bushels (15,520,000); spring wheat 371,841,000 (285,337,000); all wheat 388,773,000 (300,858,000); oats, 558,358,000 (426,232,900); barley, 75,395,500 (59,709,100); rye, 49,501,800 (21,455,200); flaxseed, 5,296,000 (4,111,800).
The total wheat yield is 24 per cent above that of 1921 and is

CHILDREN'S POET COMMEMORATED

Chicago Builds Statue to Memory of Eugene Field—Name House—hold Word Throughout America.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Eugene Field, "the children's poet," best known for the poignant lines of his "Little Boy Blue" and his series of lullabies, will take his place Monday in Chicago's marble hall of fame, with the unveiling, in Lincoln Park, of a monument dedicated to him.
Children of Chicago, through newspaper subscription funds, raised nearly half the cost—the remainder was donated by the Ferguson Memorial Fund—and the memorial fittingly commemorates the famous lullabies to which millions of children have been sung to sleep.
A brooding angel is depicted hovering over two sleeping children, sprinkling the sand of dreams into their eyes. Beneath on one side of the memorial, is carved the first four lines of the Dutch Lullaby, better known as "Wyken, Blynken and Nod." On the other side of the sleeping figures are the opening lines of "The Sugar Plum Tree."
Have you ever heard of the Sugar Plum Tree?
'Tis a marvel of great renown
It blooms on the shore of the lullaby sea.
In the garden of Shut Eye town
A fountain, marble seats and the brief inscription "To Eugene Field" complete the memorial.
The principal speaker at the unveiling ceremonies will be Melville E. Stone, counselor and former general manager of The Associated Press, who brought Eugene Field to Chicago from Denver in 1883, when Mr. Stone was associated with Mr. Victor Lawson in the publication of The Chicago Daily News. The poet remained with The News until the time of his death, in 1896, conducting a column called "Sharps and Flats."
Grand Children Take Part
Two grandchildren of the poet, Jean Field Foster and Robert Field, will pull the cords to unveil the monument, while Elsie Thompson, a friend of Mr. Field's newspaper days, will preside. The Dutch lullaby will be sung by Mrs. Louise Harrison Stone and the Rev. William E. Barton also will speak.
The statue was designed by Edward McCartan, of New York City. The children of Chicago raised nearly $10,000 of the funds for its erection, the remaining $11,000 being donated from the Ferguson Foundation, which, by its donor's will, is used exclusively to erect statues in Chicago's public places.
Eugene Field was born in St. Louis in 1859, either on September 2 or September 3. The latter date is given in the Field Family genealogy as the correct one for the greater part of his life the poet observed the former as his birthday.
His mother died when he was six years old, and his youth was spent in the home of his cousin, Miss Mary F. French, of Amherst, Mass., years whose happiness he commemorated in his verses dedicating his "Little Book of Western Verse," the first published volume from his pen.
He began his newspaper career as a paragrapher in St. Louis, spent a short time in St. Joseph, went from there to Kansas City, and then to Denver, where he remained until persuaded by Mr. Stone to transfer to Chicago.
His poem, "Little Boy Blue," beginning:
The little toy dog is covered with dust
But sturdy and staunch he stands;
And the little toy soldier is red with rust,
And his musket moulds in his hands, is probably the best known of all his published verses, and, with his lullabies, has made his name a household word in America while the fact that he devoted most of his life to newspaper work, and that most of his published verse originally appeared in his newspaper column in Chicago, Denver and other cities has been forgotten by many.

BUSINESS INFLATION TEMPORARY SAYS BABSON

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Oct. 7.—Discussing the statement of certain bankers that the country is headed for another period of inflation, Roger W. Babson today issued the following statement, from his statistical offices at Wellesley Hills:

"For readers who are not bankers and economists, let me first explain in a simple language what is meant by inflation. Men who are acquainted with the Babsonchart of Business Conditions know it is made up of two lines—first a normal line, representing the permanent growth of the country which looks like a simple up-hill grade and a second line which looks like the outline of hills and valleys. This second line represents temporary business conditions. For a few years it is above the normal line and then for a few years it is below the normal line. When the two lines coincide, business is normal; but when the second line is above the normal line, bankers say we are having inflation, while when this line is below the normal line, bankers say we are having deflation. Just now they say we are threatened with another period of inflation.
"The normal line of business is determined by the honest intelligence, industry and thrift of the people. Comparing the health of business with the health of a person, we would say that the normal growth depends upon how we behave and how we take care of ourselves. The temporary business line, however, is affected by stimuli the same as our body. A stimulant may greatly exhilarate us, but we know that the reaction afterwards is very depressing—we feel much worse in a few days. This is the scientific explanation of the common saying, 'I feel like the morning after.' There are several reasons why the bankers may be right in saying that a temporary period of inflation is at hand. The country during the past year has been given three distinct stimulants, which should artificially help business and thereby cause inflation.
"The first of these stimulants was the Immigration Law passed a year ago and which was recently re-enacted. This is known as the 3 per cent Law, which limits the immigration from any country in one year to 3 per cent of the people now here from that country. It is practically a tariff on manual labor and on common labor. If continued, it will cause a famine of common labor in this country. It is the reason why the United States Steel Corporation and other concerns are increasing the wages of common labor. If this law continues very much longer it will cause inflation in the wages of common labor and thereby tend to bring about a general inflation.
"The Tariff Bill, which was passed last month, is a second cause of inflation. Whether or not such a tariff is good for the country is a political question and is not for me to discuss, but all

GIVE FACTS ABOUT TEACHERS SALARIES

Illinois Teachers Get 32 Per Cent Over Cost of Living—Both Living Costs and Salaries Have Increased Since 1915.

CARLINVILLE, Ill.—(By The Associated Press)—Illinois teachers' salaries are 32 per cent more than the cost of living, according to Robert C. Moore, secretary of the State Teachers' association.
As compared with figures on the cost of living published by the U. S. Department of Labor, teachers' salaries have increased 94 per cent in eight years, Mr. Moore said.
Salaries began to gain on the cost of living between 1913 and 1915, he shows. Then in 1915 the cost of living passed the salaries and soared far above them for five years or until some time in 1920 to 1921. Then the salaries passed above the cost of living and have remained slightly above.
"We must remember, however," said Mr. Moore, "that all these comparisons are based upon the assumption that the cost of living was both fair and equal in 1913."
Taking the cost of living at 100 in 1913, Mr. Moore's tables show that this cost had risen to 147 in 1921, and the average of salaries for teachers has risen to 194, the former showing a 47 per cent increase, while the latter showed a 94 per cent increase. The average of all teachers' annual salaries in the state in 1921 was $1,286.93.
1913 teachers had 100 cents to purchase every 100 cents worth of the cost of living," Mr. Moore continued. "Now they have 194 cents for every 147 cents worth of the cost of living. Therefore, they are paid 32 per cent more than the cost of living, and we may say that their financial condition has improved 32 per cent."
Of course this is stated on the assumption that indices of the cost of living are accurate and that there have been no changes in the standards of living. If teachers now must have more schooling, more books, more and better rooms, food and clothes, then it is likely that their financial condition has improved very little in the eight years.
Many teachers believe we have done quite well to hold our own."
ILLINOIS TO HAVE GREAT STONE FACE
SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Illinois is to have "a great stone face," like the mountain of Hawthorne's story, if plans are realized. It is to be the face of Lincoln carved in the side of a granite fountain where all who ride may read.
The only thing now lacking for the project is the mountain. And if a state wide search for the proper location, which is now under way, is not successful, a mountain of concrete probably will be built.
Inspired by the ambitious work started near Atlanta, Ga., where a statue of the confederate cavalry is being chiseled in the side of a mountain, Grant White, New York designer, and Barnard, the sculptor, have suggested that the face of Lincoln, symbolizing the valor and the spirit of the union, be hewed in some rock hill along one of the Illinois paved highways.
The suggestion has been taken up by Senator John Daly of Peoria, Col. C. J. Miller, director of the state department of works and buildings, Jacob Thompson, legal adviser in the office of Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction, and H. W. Fay, custodian of Lincoln tomb. Mr. Thompson and Mr. Fay have been actively at work for some time searching the state for a rock, hill or mountain suitable for the heroic sculpture. Thus far they have not found one that satisfies them.
The location must answer two requirements. It must be of very hard rock, so the carving will endure, and it must be along some highway where it will command a prominent view.
Large Sums Being Spent by the National Government No Benefit National Guard.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—That great sums spent by the national government in citizens' training camps and in training reserve officers are resulting in very little benefit to the National Guard—"the core of the national defense"—was asserted by Adjutant General Carlos E. Black in a statement issued here.
Adjutant General Black commented on the proposed expansion of the national guard, declaring that the guard, since the recent reduction of the Regular Army, had become the backbone of the nation's military forces. He said that money spent on the training camps last summer was virtually useless so far as the Illinois guard was concerned.
"Should the National Guard depend on enlistments from these camps, it would have a squad a year as the result of these efforts," he said. "Of 3,000 students from Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan at the recent training camp at Camp Custer, Mich., only twenty-seven expressed any interest in joining the Regular Army, the National Guard or the Organized Reserves. The United States spent great sums of money for these camps and how can the expenditure of these sums be justified by the results obtained?"
Gen. Black contended that the money available for national defense was being scattered by too many organizations.
"In my opinion the only way to expand the National Guard is to make the National Guard so attractive that the desirable men of the community cannot stay out of it. This involves adequate quarters. The right men must be selected as officers."
General Black said he would recommend to the military authorities at Washington a plan for two training camps, one for reserve officers who would be men who have served in the National Guard not less than two years, and another camp of citizen students who would be trained with national guardsmen.
E. J. Wolfe of Davis Switch was in the city.

HAMMER TATTOOS AND CRACKING OF RIFLES IN RUSSIA

The One Comes from the Repairing of Buildings—The Other Sounds the Death Knell of the Opponents of the Soviet Government—Say That They Have Enough to Eat

(By The Associated Press)
RIGA, Sept. 27.—The cracking of the rifles of squads of executioners continues throughout Russia, and may be heard simultaneously with the tattoo of workmen's hammers engaged in the actual repair and reconstruction of buildings throughout the land.
That reconstruction has begun and is slowly continuing without important assistance from foreign countries, and that the Soviet has not changed its unrelenting and ruthless policy toward its political foes, are two outstanding phases of the Russian situation evident to the correspondent of The Associated Press who has come to Riga after an eight-months' stay in Russia.
Hardly a day passes but somewhere in the country the death sentence for political offenses is made effective, but at the same time no day dawns without the beginning of some new task, the purpose of which is to put in order buildings and streets that were wrecked during the revolution. Prisoners doomed to die look from their windows out on bustling street scenes and smiling people who have forgotten politics in the pleasure of building new fortunes as trade opens up.
There have been no changes in the fundamental policy of the Soviet government, but its tactics now seem to be strikingly summed up in the phrase of a foreign observer at Moscow: "Against or with anything which ultimately helps us in the reconstruction of Russia; relentlessly crush anyone who dares to raise his hand against us politically."
Speculators flourish, but the government is busy devising means to get their money away from them. These men pay heavy taxes; dine at stupendous prices in tax-burdened restaurants, and play baccarat for high stakes at night in the casinos from which the government takes the lion's share of the profits. To the speculators the government is like the Gods of Olympus, permitting its children to play at business, but threatening them with a thunderbolt if they dare to take part in the political game.
The government makes no secret of its dictatorship, and the people are becoming accustomed to this and are even happy in their daily lives under it. Under the iron hand of dictatorship the existence of the masses in Russia is beginning to run smoothly. While the correspondent was in Moscow he was assured by government leaders that no political freedom would be granted Russia. But this seems not to worry the people, and tired of war and strife, they now see ample food before them, coupled with the possibilities of personal advancement.
Throughout Soviet Russia there is not today, nor has there been for months, a single important uprising. The communist control is tighter and more complete than ever. The Committee of Investigation is outwitting, trying and convicting minor officials who accepted bribes, and is thus endeavoring to build up a bureaucratic machine which will operate strictly in accordance with orders from the Central government.
Old Cheka Abolished.
The old Cheka has been abolished, and in its stead there has come up the organization known as the Political police. The latter does not interfere in men's private lives, but in politics they are as omnipotent as ever. At one time the political police could shoot people first and try them afterward. Today the method is to have a court trial first and then carry out the execution, or to send suspects into exile without trial.
To foreigners in Russia the leaders make no effort to conceal their policy. They are not ashamed. They have confidence in the policy of doing wrong that good ultimately may come, and they apparently are succeeding, slowly and painfully, in reconstructing Russia, but along their own lines, and without any important sacrifice of principle.
The evidence of reconstruction in the land is more superficial than really deep-seated. Streets are being repaved, buildings reconstructed, and railroad passenger traffic is becoming normal. Industrial plants, however, it is no worse condition than a year ago, certainly are in no better shape. These plants need foreign capital, but lacking this on terms to which the Communists can consent, the government is ready to wait until it has a surplus of exports from agriculture. This it hopes for in 1923, and then and thereafter it sees money with which it will be able to establish industries itself.
In the meantime, with evidence at hand of enough food to feed practically the entire population; with a fuel supply exceeding that of last year, and with textile works producing a considerable amount of clothing, the government expects the population to be fed, and warmed, and clad, not necessarily very well, but still well enough to weather another year without foreign loans.
To feed the few hundred thousands of people who still suffer from the Russian famine, the government still looks to foreign aid. This will permit it to devote most of the available famine and church treasure funds to structural agricultural betterment, and to the purchase of harvesting machinery, horses, etc.
Nikolai Lenin, Premier of Russia, the far from strong as the result of his recent illness, has been the guiding mind in these general policies.

MEMORY TRAINED BY HARD NECESSITY

Enabled L. Y. Sherman to Surprise Colleagues and Opponents in Small Case Arguments at Carrollton.

CARROLLTON, Ill.—A memory trained, he said by hard necessity in many court battles in Illinois, enabled Former United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman to surprise his colleagues and opponents during arguments here before Judge Norman L. Jones in the Governor Small civil suits.
For two hours Senator Sherman threaded his way through devious and intricate legal mazes without a single written memorandum to refresh his memory. He was greatly chagrined upon forgetting the exact page of a Co-rado decision he was quoting.
He quoted the laws of King Alfred, from the Domesday book of William the Conqueror, and from the statutes of Queen Anne; referred to the powers and duties of treasurers under various constitutions and statutes, going back to the session laws of 1819 at the old Kaskaskia capitol, the act of 1845, and the constitution of 1870, the laws of 1873 and 1893, and the statutes of 1897 and 1908; he quoted paragraphs verbatim from Coke on Littleton; James version of the Bible, and finally outlined the ancient contest between the courts of law and chancery, with comments on the growth of trial by jury.
"When I started jury trial work at the age of twenty-three in a strange city, I was forced to rely in my memory for the names of the jurors," said Mr. Sherman. "If I have a mind there. When I prepare a brief, it is fixed so thoroughly in my mind that I do not need to refer to it after it goes to the printer. This is because I have to work so hard to prepare my cases that I can't forget them."

BLACK SAYS STATES DERIVE LITTLE GOOD

Large Sums Being Spent by the National Government No Benefit National Guard.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—That great sums spent by the national government in citizens' training camps and in training reserve officers are resulting in very little benefit to the National Guard—"the core of the national defense"—was asserted by Adjutant General Carlos E. Black in a statement issued here.
Adjutant General Black commented on the proposed expansion of the national guard, declaring that the guard, since the recent reduction of the Regular Army, had become the backbone of the nation's military forces. He said that money spent on the training camps last summer was virtually useless so far as the Illinois guard was concerned.
"Should the National Guard depend on enlistments from these camps, it would have a squad a year as the result of these efforts," he said. "Of 3,000 students from Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan at the recent training camp at Camp Custer, Mich., only twenty-seven expressed any interest in joining the Regular Army, the National Guard or the Organized Reserves. The United States spent great sums of money for these camps and how can the expenditure of these sums be justified by the results obtained?"
Gen. Black contended that the money available for national defense was being scattered by too many organizations.
"In my opinion the only way to expand the National Guard is to make the National Guard so attractive that the desirable men of the community cannot stay out of it. This involves adequate quarters. The right men must be selected as officers."
General Black said he would recommend to the military authorities at Washington a plan for two training camps, one for reserve officers who would be men who have served in the National Guard not less than two years, and another camp of citizen students who would be trained with national guardsmen.
E. J. Wolfe of Davis Switch was in the city.

Salvation Army 'Vamp' is Broadway's Newest Queen

Captain Rheba Crawford, "Vamp of the Salvation Army."
By HORTENSE SAUNDERS

NEW YORK.—A new queen reigns on Broadway. A new face has captured the fickle heart and the sophisticated taste of the pleasure seekers of the gay white way.

She is Captain Rheba Crawford, The "Vamp of the Salvation Army," they call her around Times Square.

Within a stone's throw of 50 theaters and as many dance halls and cabarets where the world's highest priced entertainers hold forth and wealth invites youth, Captain Crawford takes her nightly stand and directs traffic down the straight and narrow road.

She's the only Salvation Army lass who has ever been able to draw a bigger crowd, single-handed, outside a theater, than a chorus of beauties could inside. She talks to Broadway in its own language.

"I conquered Broadway because I have the soul of Broadway myself," she said "and it's mind and heart as well. I love Broadway and understand it. It is the greatest street in the world and has the biggest heart."

One of Broadway's best showmen, Captain Crawford meets the Broadway beauties on their own ground. She has Irish-blue eyes, a creamy skin, red-gold hair, ankles that zigzag themselves, couldn't criticize and lines of such slender loveliness you are ready to count your calories the rest of your life.

"To say on Broadway, you must be a good showman," she continued knowingly. "You must have tact, sympathy, and the ability to sense the feelings of your audience. You must know the psychology of the crowd. You must give them your best, and let them know you are giving it."

"I have no moving picture outfit, but I can make the men and women in my audience see pictures no camera could show when I remind them of their homes."

BREAK GROUND FOR CALHOUN'S FIRST R. R.

JERSEYVILLE, Ill.—Ground has been broken for the first railroad to serve Calhoun county and the Nutwood drainage district in Jersey county.

The first construction work was begun at Titus, the terminus of the Chicago and Alton railroad in Greene county. The new line will extend four miles south from Titus to a point in the Nutwood drainage district, thence west to a point opposite Hardin.

Calhoun county is the only county in Illinois without a railroad. They have been forced to ship their produce and travel by river and overland. Frequently during severe winter weather, they virtually cut off from communication with the outside world.

Calhoun is one of the largest apple producing counties in the country.

To help bring the railroad into the district, the people of the Nutwood drainage and levee district subscribed $60,000 and the residents of Calhoun raised $11,000.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES

The big event for the coming week for the college is the celebration of Founders' Day on Tuesday evening, October 10. The alumnae and former students will meet at the Peacock Inn at 5:30, where the first annual banquet in honor of Founders' Day will be held. The unusual feature of the occasion will be that instead of having the toast at the Inn all the company will adjourn immediately after the banquet to the Social Room at the college, where they will join with the present students, both town and those living in the college buildings, in a delightful program. The feature that is unique about the founding of Illinois Woman's College is what is known as the Candle Lighting suggestion. Yellow and blue candles will be used at all the celebrations wherever the groups of the students can get together, and where that is not possible, the individual alumnae and former student will have the yellow and blue candles at her dinner hour. A more detailed account of the local celebration will appear later.

Two more students have entered the advanced classes of the college. Miss Katherine Yansick of Gary, Indiana, returned to take up her work

The Alpha Pi Delta, or Freshman Society, is being organized and will soon be in smooth running operation. The society this year will be able to profit by the organization of the one last year, and will be able to get a great deal of help from the Class of 1925.

The annual college picnic was held in Nichols Park last Monday. The luncheon was served cafeteria style from three double tables, thus reducing the time and confusion of service. There was no set program or games, but every one entered into the spirit of the affair as a true picnicer should.

President Harker is giving a series of chapel talks dealing with the history of the college in preparation of the celebration of Founders' Day next Tuesday.

The Gymnasium and Swimming Pool, especially the latter, are crowded to capacity. There is a very heavy growth in all the swimming classes with only an occasional vacancy now available in any of them.

Announcement has been received at the college of the marriage of Hazel Waggoner of Carrollton to Dr. Arthur G. Griffith. Mrs. Griffith was a student at the college in 1906-07.

Miss Ethel Lumsden of Monticello, Ill., was a guest of the college Friday. Miss Lumsden was a student at the college in 1906-07.

SOCIAL SERVICE AS A COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE

This is a day of community efforts for general welfare. The social service league of Jacksonville is such a community enterprise. Organized in March, 1917, it has extended the service of existing organizations, added needed features and brought all together in co-operative mass efforts.

Today its service includes: Family welfare work, rehabilitation, duties of city matron, attendance officer of public schools, probation officer of juvenile court, mother's pension, overseer of poor for Jacksonville, general and direct social education and recreation projects for the poor and neglected. Last but not least it expresses the human good will of the community.

It is managed by a board of directors of twenty-four representative citizens. Individual members represent all churches, lodges, societies and city and county legal positions of a social nature. The welfare of Jacksonville as a home city is always foremost.

A small staff of experts social workers makes possible a type of service previously unknown in our community. The large co-operative factor makes it possible to eliminate overlapping and to follow up cases until something permanent and worth while has been accomplished.

All in all, it represents a high type of service reflecting the whole hearted spirit of the citizens. The large support of the league is making possible a service of efficiency which contributes positively to the peace of mind of the community and extends a constructive helping hand where need exists.

NOTICE TO VOTERS

FARM BUREAU NOTES

The executive committee of the Morgan County Farm Bureau met in regular monthly session at 10 a. m. Saturday, Charles S. Black, W. H. Crum, J. W. Arnold, T. R. Cain, and C. R. Gibson were present. In the absence of Secretary H. E. Kliner, who was quarantined on account of illness at his home, C. R. Gibson acted as secretary. The minutes of the previous meetings were read and approved. Also minutes of the August meeting. The action of the president and secretary in paying bills for August when there was no quorum present was approved. Mr. Kendall reported that the picnic at Meredosia was a financial success and the executive committee need not give the matter any further concern. A very appreciative letter was read that was from Mr. Berger.

Mr. Gibson reported on the Pittsfield meeting, giving the details of the afternoon meeting and the plans now used in conducting membership campaigns. It was the sense of those present that when a member of the executive committee represents the Farm Bureau at any meeting outside the county that his necessary expenses should be paid by the Farm Bureau.

It was the sense of those present that every member be given an opportunity to nominate candidates for office and as members of the executive committee prior to the annual meeting, by sending them a list of the members with directions for sending in the nominations. This would be supplemented by nominations from the floor at the annual meeting.

W. H. Crum was appointed a committee to see which of our churches would be in a position to serve the annual luncheon at the annual meeting sometime between December 1 and December 15.

Mr. Kendall was authorized to select a speaker for the annual meeting. George A. Fox, E. H. Cunningham and J. W. Coverdale were mentioned as possibilities. There has been some interest in the matter of the Farm Bureau handling potatoes. The farm advisor was asked to see what arrangements could be made with local dealers in handling these on a narrow margin.

It seemed to be the sense of the majority of those present that it was worth while to try and organize a county wide livestock shipping association with headquarters at Jacksonville, with view to serving those points where they are not at present active associations.

Mr. Gibson was authorized to sign checks as secretary pro tem until Mr. Kliner was out of quarantine.

The meeting adjourned until November 4.

F. V. Correa, Manager.
The Jacksonville Livestock Shipping association met in the Farm Bureau office at 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon and discussed the status of the organization. In the opinion of those present this organization ought to prove decidedly helpful in getting better prices for livestock. It was decided to give any member of the Farm Bureau the right to ship thru this association without any membership fee. Non-farm bureau members are to be required to pay an initial membership fee of 3. The most significant taken was in regard to manager. F. V. Correa was unanimously elected to the position. Any member of the Farm Bureau is now at liberty to ship livestock thru this organization, although the new manager does not expect to invade the fields where associations have already been established.

TIME LIMIT FOR FILING CLAIMS FOR VETS TRAINING

Chicago—The district office of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau at Chicago, Ill., announces that the last day for filing claims for federal vocational training is December 16, 1922. Every disabled ex-service man or woman who feels that he or she is entitled to government training must make application for same prior to the above date.

The act of congress making appropriations to supply deficiencies on appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, and prior fiscal years for other purposes, approved June 16, 1921 contains the following provisions:

"That any person entitled under the provisions of the vocational rehabilitation act, as amended, to the vocational training must make application therefor within eighteen months from date of the approval of this act. No applications for vocational training under the vocational rehabilitation act can, therefore be considered unless such applications are submitted prior to December 16, 1922.

The application for vocational training of any disabled ex-service person will be interpreted to mean any written application or communication for such person expressing a desire for vocational training. In other words a letter from a service man bearing his signature and stating that he wishes to make application for training will be sufficient to insure him a consideration of his claim.

All men and women who served in the armed forces of the United States during the world war, and who incurred a disability, either through wounds or disease, due to service, which would prevent their "carrying on" in their pre-war occupations, are entitled to government training. All applications and any information concerning same should be addressed to the district office, U. S. Veterans' Bureau, 111 N. Canal street, Chicago, Ill.

PROGRESS MADE IN RAISING BRIDGE MONEY

Progress is being made in the campaign for the balance of the money required to make up the remainder of the $2,000 pledged by Jacksonville as her share of the Meredosia-Wagon Bridge fund. Chairman William Batz has reported in from his district $44; C. B. Massey reports from his district $28.50; Frank Plouer reports $65 from his territory and L. J. Horen reports $42.00. This makes a total of about $800 to be secured.

There are fourteen teams working on this campaign and so far four have completed their work. It is hoped that by Wednesday of next week all the teams will have their work completed. When this is accomplished the second half of the inter-city tour will be taken. Jacksonville business men will make a tour of Virginia, Leesport, Meredosia and other towns north and west of Jacksonville. When in Meredosia the $2,000 will be given to the Meredosia residents as Jacksonville's share of the new bridge project.

Lifting of heavy wash baskets, tugging with wet clothes, the sudden change from the hot steaming laundry to the outdoors—these are the things that wear out women.

If you count the value of your own health and time, have us relieve you of this work.

We wash in soft, fleecy suds, rinse in many changes of rain-soft water, iron the flatwork, starch those pieces that need it, and leave for you only the ironing of a few lighter things such as most women like to finish up themselves.

Phone and we'll have our representative call.

"EFFICIENCY built this Institution from a 6 room cottage to a modern Hospital of 67 rooms in 12 years. Requiring 1 nurse at first to 10 nurses now to take care of its patients. It is true the STRUGGLES were hard and great and obstacles many, the task a big one but not one penny was ever asked of any one nor did we receive one for either our work or our building.

Many have come to us without means to pay for operations and care. We gave freely of our services as far as we could without hope of reward. Now that we have reached the goal of our ambition in building, we have organized a regular Department of CHARITY to look after all such cases in the future. Already since February this department has restored 14 poor but worthy people regardless of race or creed, to health.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh eggs are fairly plentiful and there is a good demand for fine stock. Held stock is not wanted and sells at a discount. Prices on fresh eggs dropped seven cents a dozen in New York during the past week, as the supply was greater than the demand.

Poultry receipts were not quite as heavy, with prices practically unchanged. Smaller kinds, such as the Mediterranean breeds, bring less than the larger birds. Butterfat productions is about the same as a year ago, with a good demand noted from consuming trade.

The excess butter in storage or September 1 has been greatly reduced, and supplies are now pretty close to requirements. The stocks in storage in Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia are now less than a year ago.

Extra fall and winter feeding will bring increased returns. Imports of butter are expected to be light on account of firm and higher markets abroad.

STRONG UNDERTONE ON WHEAT MARKET

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Higher quotations at Liverpool and weekend evening up toward the finish here tended to give a lift to wheat values today. At the final wheat was up 1/4c to 1 1/2c with December $1.07 1/2 to $1.07 3/4 and May $1.09 1/2 to $1.09 3/4; corn advanced 1/4c to 1 1/2c, oats rose 1/4c to 1/2c and provisions were unchanged to 1/2c higher.

The wheat market showed a strong undertone thruout the short session and while business was light, the strength in Liverpool resulting from the Near East political situation induced some moderate commission house buying. There also was some short covering. Liverpool reported all American offers made abroad overnight as having been accepted with a better milling demand. Considerable week-end up got underway toward the last, few traders caring to have an extended interest out over Sunday in view of the foreign situation. Corn and oats were higher in sympathy with wheat, corn touching a new high for the present movement. Country offerings were not large. Eastern demand was fair. Provisions were firmer although trade was light.

Quick Meal ranges enameled inside and out; they can't rust and won't burn out. The largest and most beautiful range made. Call and see them.

CHICAGO POET TALKS JOURNALIST STUDENTS

CHICAGO—Carl Sandburg, Chicago poet and movie editor of the Chicago Daily News, addressed the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern university on the subject of poetry and the newspaper on Thursday evening, October 5. Mr. Sandburg read from his own poems and accompanied himself on the guitar in several songs.

In discussing the newspaper he said: "When Tim Murphy, speaking from the county jail, said there is nothing so dead as yesterday's newspaper, it was made first page news."

"I am not well acquainted with the grade school and the college textbooks of standard requirements today. But I know that ninety percent of the newspaper writing today is more vital, direct, and straightforward than 90 percent of the writing in the grade school and college textbooks of the standard requirements of twenty to thirty years ago."

"The model for news writers is rather John Bunyan than John Milton. But in these latter days even the political correspondents and the editorial writers dare to be blunt and full of meaning, if they feel that way."

"Dominant styles in newspaper writing permit one to be more human than in former years. Of course, there are stuffed shirts lugging their heavy vocabularies around the local room. But they are getting fewer."

"Robert Louis Stevenson said that the man knows what to leave out can find an Iliad in any daily newspaper."

Paul Scott of Arnold Station journeyed to the city Saturday.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE
NOTES

President Rammelkamp went to Peoria Friday to attend a meeting of the Illinois Schoolmasters' Club.

Dr. Carl E. Black will deliver an address to the students at the college chapel exercises Monday morning at 9:45 on "The Present Situation in the Near East and Greece."

The Rev. Thomas W. Smith will make a brief talk to the students at the chapel exercises on Wednesday morning.

The Ramlber board has offered a prize of $10 to the class which turns in the largest number of subscriptions to the college paper for the coming year. There is keen competition among the various classes for this prize.

Great interest is being shown in the men's tennis tournament now in progress at the college. Twenty-one entries were in Monday and many games have been played. All but seven have been eliminated from the tournament. The seven still in the race are President Rammelkamp, Kenneth Hiatt, '23, Professor Ames, Professor Leavenworth, William Overfelt, '26, Reavis Capps, '26, and W. G. Guild.

The enrollment of the college now stands at 265 students. This is the largest enrollment in the history of "Old Illinois."

The freshman class officers for the coming year were elected recently. The following are the officers: President, Edward Akers; vice-president, Carl Vogt; secretary, Catherine Wilson; Treasurer, Lee Henry Goebel; assistant treasurer, Elizabeth Scott. An interesting feature of the election is that the president and vice-president are residents of other states, while the other officers are Jacksonville boys and girls.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC
NOTES

Mrs. Elizabeth Blackburn-Martin to play all of the instruments used just received one of her latest piano compositions "By Candlelight" from her music publishers, C. W. Thompson Music Co., Boston, Mass., who are to bring out in the near future a suite of piano compositions for the earlier grades.

Miss Laila Skinner of Buffalo, N. Y., a former organ pupil of Director Pearson, has recently won a scholarship in competition with a large number of students from many states at the Eastman School of Music in connection with the University of Rochester.

Director Pearson has a number of county and state prize winners in his piano class this season, among which are Miss Virginia Clark, Auburn, Ill., and Miss Louise Vascollis of Williamsville, Ill., who were last year's winners in the Sangamon County contest.

Nell Lindley of the class of 1919 is in charge of the music in the grade and high schools at Hartline, Washington. She also directs the school band and orchestra, having learned saxophone and organ in the College of Music.

The following pupils and former pupils of Director Pearson are organists in the churches of Jacksonville:

Willard Wesner, State Street Presbyterian.

Olive Engel, First Baptist.

Mrs. Elizabeth Blackburn-Martin, Westminster.

Frank Collins, Jr., Trinity church. Director Pearson is organist and choir master at the Grace M. E. church and Miss Myrtle Larimore of the faculty at Centenary.

Orchestral rehearsals will be resumed shortly and an interesting program has been selected by Director Pearson. Members of the orchestral training school will be admitted to the regular college orchestra as soon as their technical and musical knowledge is up to the required standard.

Christine Cotner and Grace Terhune will be soloists on the program given by Theta Sigma at their initiation banquet at Colonial Inn on Saturday, October 7.

The Artists' Course given at the college this season promises to be one of the finest ever arranged by Director Pearson. The first concert of the series will be held in Music hall on October 23rd with Alice Hays Reed, soprano, and Margaret O'Connor, harpist. Mrs. Reed is well known in Chicago for her brilliant recitals. She has a combination of attributes that fit her eminently for her profession and has an unusually attractive personality.

Miss O'Connor has appeared in seventy-six cities and towns of this country and was chosen by the government as harpist member of a concert company which made a tour of the Panama Canal Zone in 1920, where the young artist's highly developed technique and artistry won wide praise from her audiences and critics.

Miss Florence Brinkman, pianist, will also appear at the first concert of the Artist's Series. This artist has appeared with pronounced success in Germany and Holland. Her musicianship is astonishing for one so young and she has a brilliant technical equipment, combining physical power and great delicacy.

NEW MODEL CHEVROLET
NOW SHOW BY CLAUS

J. F. Claus of the Claus Motor company today announced the arrival of 1923 models Chevrolet cars. Speaking of the new models of this popular car, Mr. Claus said:

"Great interest attaches to the new model Chevrolet here because of the quality features added to the line.

"These include stream line design, with high hood, crowned, paneled fenders and drum type head lamps. All models now have vacuum feed with gas tank in rear.

"Windshield wiper and dash light have been added to the closed models. The outside finish of the closed cars is now all in black. They are built by the Fisher Body Corporation.

"An interesting addition to the line is the Sedanette, with which Chevrolet secures entre into the sport and style field. It resembles the sedan but is shorter in the body, has two doors, and hinged front seats. An auto trunk is standard equipment on this model, which is priced at $850.00 f. o. b. Flint, Michigan.

"Prices of the other models are the same as in the preceding line."

Thirty-Two Hundred Steps Wasted Each Month

A man who paid his bills by cash recently figured up that he took 3,200 STEPS for this purpose each month.

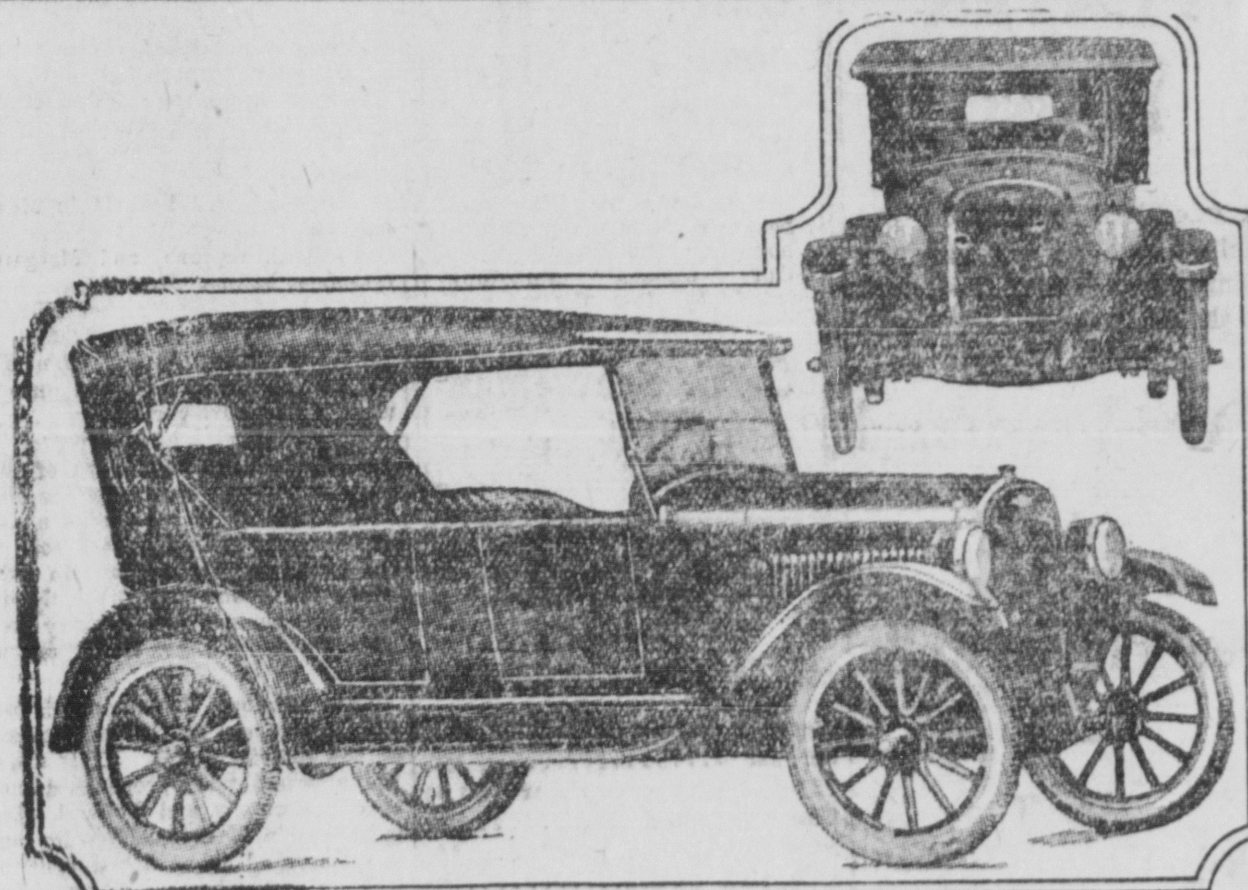

Those steps are WASTED. That is why he opened a CHECKING ACCOUNT in this bank.

Now he takes thirty steps to the mailbox outside his door and saves the other 3,170 each month. That's a lot of time, walking and shoe-leather SAVED.

Follow this man's example—OPEN A CHECKING ACCOUNT IN THIS BANK TODAY and save unnecessary steps.

PLANNING C. OF C. FORUM MEETINGS

President Dial is Expecting to Open Meetings Early This Month—Two Meetings Will Be Held Each Month.

The fall and winter program of the Forum meetings of the Chamber of Commerce is now being planned. It is the hope of Forum President J. H. Dial to open the series of meetings the early part of this month. Mr. Dial is now working out the steering committee which is the advisory board to the president and consists of five men. This committee arranges the meeting nights and the subjects to be discussed.

It is planned to have two meetings each month with out of town speakers in most cases. An entertainment committee will be appointed and the members of this committee will arrange for suitable entertainment at each meeting. Another important committee is the attendance committee which has in charge the work of getting the members out to the forum.

The forum of a modern Chamber of Commerce provides a way for the members to express themselves on the subjects which the Chamber takes up and gives each member an opportunity to take part in conducting the affairs of the local chamber. The recommendations made by the forum are placed before the board of directors for action. In this way the board can have a definite understanding as to what the membership at large wants accomplished.
Last year the forum attendance averaged about one hundred and twenty-five members at a meeting. This year it is hoped that 200 out of the 550 carrying membership will be in attendance at the forum meetings.

The good derived from the forum meetings is demonstrated in one instance which occurred last year when the transportation meeting was held. Representatives of all the railroads in and out of Jacksonville were present and the results of this particular meeting were of great benefit to the city. Better train service was secured, the sidewalks at the railroad crossings of the Wabash road were repaired and definite assurance of improvement of the sidewalks and pavements around the different railroads in the city was given. Trains that were to be discontinued were retained in service and train schedules were so arranged that better connections with trains in and out of Springfield were made possible.
One station which was open only at train time was opened all day and annoyance of trains blocking the streets was materially reduced.

ROAD DIRECTORS TO MEET TUESDAY

The Morgan County Good Roads association board of directors will hold the regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, October 10, at 7:45 at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The question of paying the Mississippi Valley Highway dues for this year will be disposed of and reports will be heard from several committees in regard to the hard road extension work south and west of Jacksonville.

Reports from the committee in charge of the Mt. Sterling-Jacksonville hard road and the hard road to Virginia will also be discussed. Special efforts will be made to erect signs directing tourists to Jacksonville. One is especially needed at Auburn where the tourists leave the hard road to come to Jacksonville.
President W. E. Sullivan will preside and a good attendance of directors is anticipated.

EXECUTIVE MEETING OF C. OF C. MONDAY

Special Committee in Charge of Hallowe'en Celebration and Automobile Day Will Present Reports.

The executive board of the commercial division of the Chamber of Commerce will hold the regular weekly meeting Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.
The special committee in charge of the Hallowe'en Celebration and Automobile Day will be present and will report the progress of the work and receive further instructions from the board.

It is planned to try and combine the Hallowe'en celebration and Auto Day into one large event and to make the evening festivities more elaborate than last year. Some method of better lighting effects will be worked out so that the spectators can see the parade to better advantage.

The Auto Day will be conducted along similar lines to those followed in other cities. Prizes are to be given for the cars coming the longest distance; to the most dilapidated looking car that can run five times around the square without stopping; to the one with the worst tires; to the muddest
looking car; to the automobile with the most children on board;
to the car with the noisiest crowd of people and various other "prize cars" of different descriptions.

Auto days and celebrations of this sort have been held in other cities with great success. In one city in Illinois so great was the interest in the affair that people brought cars to town that had not been used for ten years. They hailed them to the edge of the city with horses and then hired mechanics to come out and patch them up in some way so that they could be entered in the contest for the "Most dilapidated car that will run." After this particular celebration five old rattle-trap flivvers were left with the Ford dealers. The old busses were so old the owners didn't want to haul them home.

MUSICAL COMEDY HIT AT GRAND MONDAY

What is undoubtedly a national institution and which has been acclaimed as something apart from the conventional is the next offering at the Grand theatre Monday night. The title of the new piece is "Father on His Vacation." It is in three acts and is based on the world famous cartoons of George McManus,
"Bringing Up Father." No comic of recent years have ingrained themselves into the hearts of the public as have these unique creations. And the answer is easy.
They are the personification of life, the embodiment of real humor and human nature. Jiggs Mahoney, who will be seen in the flesh, along with Maggie, his wife, Dinty and the rest of the Mahoney clan, is a character as beloved as he is popular. This year Jiggs has decided to take a rest

—a respite as it were, from all the turmoil, tribulations, strife and incessant disturbances that invariably beset the loyal family man. Just how Jiggs intends to carry out his "rest" forms the nucleus of one of the most rollicking sort of entertainments offered hereabouts in a generation.

THE COPPER-CLAD RANGE

The strikingly beautiful outlines of the Copper-Clad Range stops every woman. As she looks and admires, she finds that it is true beauty—the beauty of simple elegance and perfect proportions—of fine finish—the thoroughbred of the Range World.

Look for hinges on the above—two only on the oven door and they are long and smooth. There are six other doors yet not a hinge in sight, not a catch, nor hook nor latch. Built like fine automobiles, the hinges are all inside.

THE COPPER-CLAD RANGE

With White Enamel Trimmings

"Copper-Clad" means pure Sheet Copper is placed BE-TWEEN the sweaty asbestos and range body. To place it elsewhere would be like climbing on top of a roof to get out of the wet.

SET OF ELEGANT ALUMINUM WARE Free

If You Buy a Copper-Clad Range Next Week

"Free" means that this ware does not cost Copper-Clad buyers a single penny. It is a reward for buying while the "Copper-Clad Crank" is here and is offered by him to justify you in attending this sale.

This ware is very substantial and just the kind that you would select if buying for your own use. The 7-in-1 convertible cooker takes the place of seven different vessels, as shown by figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7. You can use this utensil in some form every day.

Free to Every Copper-Clad Buyer During This Sale
Come—See the Asbestos Sweat

COPPER-CLAD WEEK This Week, October 9th to 14th

No matter whether you want a range
now or next year or any other time, it will pay you to come and see the Copper-Clad Crank make the Asbestos sweat.

He takes any piece of asbestos, puts it between two iron plates—heats it—and shows you the sweat. You can roll it up in drops with your finger.

Every good range must be lined with asbestos to hold the heat around the oven and keep down fuel cost. Every time the range cools off, the asbestos takes moisture out of the fresh air circulating through the range like a blotter takes up water. When you fire up, this moisture is driven by the heat to the outside against the cold range body and starts Sweat-Rust on the inside where you can't get at it even though you know it rusts.

Sweat-Rust ruins thousands and thousands of otherwise good ranges every year. When the range body is gone the range is done for.

The Copper-Clad Idea is "Pure Sheet Copper Between the Asbestos and Range Body"

Copper never rusts. It may tarnish but it will last centuries. There are Copper Domes that have been defying the elements for hundreds of years. So, when we say a "Copper-Clad can't rust out" we mean that the copper lining overcomes all internal rust. An oiled rag will keep the outside free from rust—and there are no fussy ornaments full of rivets and bolts to skin your hands.

The Copper-Clad wipes clean like a dish.
If these things are so—you should know it. Not by hearsay—but by the evidence of your own eyes. Remember this "Copper-Clad Crank" is here to tell —to show—to explain. He delights in it. You won't "bother" him by asking questions. He has oodles of time to answer and he is here to "Show You."
